Drought Becomes Something You Can Bite In Colorado Dust Bowl

By HARMON KALLMAN
Denver Post Staff Writer

DENVER (AP)—Drought seldom is dramatic. Ordinarily it spreads like a silent cancer. But in southeastern Colorado today it is a tangible, fearsome force.

You feel the grit between your teeth, between your fingers, in your eyes, even though it may not be blowing. You begin to itch all over with it as you watch mile after mile of fences buried in blown dust and sand, telegraph poles and farm equipment banked high with the powdery stuff that kills rich farmland.

The farther south and east you go, the fewer furrows you can discern in what was plowed wheatland a short week ago.

You can drive 100 miles east of here and see little sign of the disastrous dust storm of last week and the blow Monday that added insult to injury.

But once into Hugo, the Lincoln County seat, you know the dust has been there.

This is what I saw when I made a trip into the area:

Just a few miles to the south and the world turned gray. A few hundred yards off main Highway 109 on a section-like road you could see the first bitter evidence.

It looked curiously like an ocean beach with a few weeds rising above the wind-sculptured sand. There was moisture beneath it. Broken cedar fence posts looked like driftwood.

Bob White of Rocky Ford, who superintends 70,000 acres of Colorado farmland for the Baughman Farms Co. of Liberal, Kan., was driving by.

"This is hardly anything," he said. "Go to Haswell and Eads. It'll break your heart.

"See, this winter wheat is still green, even though it's sick and you can barely see the furrows that were here until last week. With moisture this will still make wheat.

"It's not as bad as it was in Texas in the 1930s, but I've never seen one storm do as much damage as that one last week."

Farther south you noticed that the fences not covered by dunes were blown thick with weeds, like brown hedgerows.

On a side road in northeast Crowley County you came upon a grader plowing deep-banked dust that looked finer than the sand crystals you had seen in Lincoln County.

"I've lived here all my life," said the operator, Henry Manweiler, 27, of Sugar City. "I was a kid during the dust bowl days. But I never saw one like this any time."

A woman was hanging out clothes to dry in the yard of a big ranch house near the Crowley-Kiowa County line.

"No, I won't tell you my name," she said. "I don't like publicity But I can tell you about that dust storm last week.

"There are miles of broken fences all around here, but the cattle aren't wandering off—there's nothing out there to tempt them. . . .

"People are almost in a panic. They want to know where they can get a job, to carry them over. Fellow over that way said all he'd have to do to get ready to leave this county would be to back his of dust from the rails and roadbed, truck up to the door; his wife would do the rest."

Eastward to Arlington it grew steadily worse. A train on the Missouri Pacific line went by and was lost within 100 yards in a cloud

Each remaining clump of grass seemed to have its own little sand dune on the windward side. A grader operator who wouldn't give his name said it had been worse in the 1930s. "People have just forgot."

It Could Be

At press time it looks like it might be, it could be, it's going to—rain. Let's hope the looks aren't deceiving.

Mostly cloudy and cooler tonight, with a chance for a light shower this afternoon. Low tonight in the lower 30s. Friday fair, high in the upper 50s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 42; 54 at 11 a. m. 50 at 1 p. m., and 48 at 2 p. m.

One year ago today here high 46, low 34. Two years ago high 40, low 24. Three years ago high 65, low 52.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 43.9, steady.

S-C Music Department Gives Mid-Winter Concert Tonight

The mid-winter concert of the Smith - Cotton High School music department will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Schrader, music instructor. Taking part in the concert will be the orchestra, mixed chorus and band.

The orchestra will open the evening's program with LeRoy Anderson's "The Typewriter." It will also play "Three Brothers Overture" by Cimarosa, "Pizzicato Polka" by Strauss and "Holiday Tune" by Whitney. Shirley Kirkpatrick, accompanied by Ann Marquess, will play a violin solo, the first movement from Concerto No. 3 by Seitz.

The mixed chorus will sing three numbers, "Ike, Mr. President" by Dolph and Waring, "I Believe," as arranged by Andes, and "Ife's Castle," a Czechoslovakian folk song.

The Smith - Cotton band, in bright black and gold uniforms, will be featured last on the program but will bring forth several striking marches and impressive overtures. It will open with Sousa's "King Cotton March," and will then play "Emblem of Unity" by J. J. Richards, "Green Meadows Overture" by Eric Hansen, "The Phantom Regiment" by Anderson, "Hollywood Serenade" by Davis and "Fostrauser's March" by Chambers.

The public is invited to attend the performance.

Rep. Harvey Dow Is Witness To One-Man Legislature Move

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Rep. Clifford Jones (R) of St. Louis County played a dual role today as the Missouri House held a technical session.

First, as acting speaker, he called the nearly vacant House to order. Then he left the rostrum to make a motion to dispense with reading of yesterday's journal.

Back at the rostrum, he again recognized "the gentleman from St. Louis County" for a motion to adjourn. Back on the floor as "the gentleman from St. Louis County," he moved to recess until tomorrow, when the governor's emergency appropriation bills will be introduced.

Mounting the rostrum again, acting Speaker Jones then adjourned the brief session.

"First time I ever got a motion through the House," he quipped.

The only other member present was Rep. Harvey Dow (R) of Pettis County.

Tomorrow emergency appropriation bills covering Gov. Phil M. Donnelly's recommendations will be introduced, then the House will adjourn until Tuesday. The Senate quit yesterday until Monday afternoon.

Meanwhile Rep. Max Myers (R) of Jasper County, House appropriations chairman, scheduled three days of hearings next week on a bill to lift the present $6½ million ceiling on the state's drought emergency hay program. That would permit immediate use of $1,604,000 of federal aid funds.

The hearings open Tuesday morning with L. C. Carpenter, state agriculture commissioner, and A. D. Sappington of the Missouri Farmers Association as witnesses. That afternoon the committee will hear Warren W. Fuqua of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation and Henry Thomas, who has been in charge of the hay program in the Department of Agriculture.

Wednesday, the witnesses will be Alfred G. Brittain, of Columbia, federal crop statistician, and State Auditor Haskell Holman. Holman has just finished an audit of the hay program through Jan. 31.

Thursday night another committee session will be held to hear any other witnesses.

The hay bill was introduced the first day of the special session by Rep. Christian F. Stipp (R) of Carroll County. House majority leader. It does not include an extra $2 million appropriation of state funds as recommended by the governor.

Presbytery's World Affairs Assembly Here

When two other speakers could not attend the World Affairs Assembly of the Sedalia Presbytery here Wednesday, a substitute was sent and she proved to be highly interesting, presenting many facts for the more than 100 persons who were in attendance.

Mrs. Herbert Rice, sister of the Compton brothers (one of whom, Arthur, is chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis), was the substitute and she spoke at the sessions held at the Broadway Presbyterian Church.

Home on sabbatical leave with her husband, from their mission station in Pakistan, Mrs. Rice told of conditions in that country and in India and explained the place of prominence which Communism has gained in the Far East.

Gunter Kaiser, a young man from Germany, an exchange student of the Council of Churches, spoke on the problems facing the churches of Europe, especially those in Germany and more exactly those in Berlin, where the various zones of occupation influence religion.

Ensign Lineinger, a missionary on leave from the Philippines, also addressed the group, giving an insight to the religious and political affairs of the Philippines. He has worked there among youth groups and told of this interesting contact with the natives of the islands.

The three speakers together gave the Presbytery representatives many glimpses of the work of the churches in several parts of the globe and presented the problems involved in Christianity combatting Communism and other foes.

Carleton Smith Here For K&F Club Tonite

Carleton Smith, world traveler, political economist and music critic, will be the speaker for the Knife and Fork Club at its meeting at 7 o'clock tonight at Bothwell Hotel. His topic is: "The Dollars and Cents Value of Good Looks."

Cancel Gas Sale Contract

Cities Service Co. Will Not Sell Out To Missouri Public Service, Warrensburg

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Cities Service Co., announced today it had cancelled a contract to sell its Gas Service Co., of Kansas City to the Missouri Public Service Co. of Warrensburg, Mo., for $32,000,000.

The contract deadline is expiring today, and the Cities Service Co., announced it would go ahead with its original plans to sell the 1,500,000 shares of stock in a public offering.

Cities Service had been ordered by the Securities and Exchange Commission to dispose of by Jan. 1, 1954, the Gas Service Co., a distributing system with properties in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Consumation of the proposed sale was halted by the Kansas Corporation Commission which had set March 15 for a hearing. Previously the Missouri Public Service Commission had approved the sale.

The announcement of the contract cancellation was made here by Henry L. O'Brien, general counsel for Cities Service.

"Cities Service fully expected the sale to be consumated prior to Feb. 25, 1954," he said in a statement. "That expectation has not been realized, and the purchaser now advises that an absolute minimum of an additional two months would be required to consumate the sale."

He added the expiration of the contract "will now permit Cities Service to proceed with a public offering as originally contemplated."

O'Brien did not say when and how the public offering of the stock would be made.

The common stock of the Gas Service Co., was increased from 850,000 shares to 1,500,000 shares at a directors meeting last May.

In his statement, O'Brien said the bid by the Missouri Public Service Co., was "lower than the best public offering price stipulated by the prospective underwriters," but at the same time would have yielded to Cities Service "more than it would have realized through a public offering at the time of submission of such bids."

Ike to Grant Military Aid To Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower announced today he will grant military aid to Pakistan to help secure "stability and strength" in the Middle East.

The President made known this decision in a formal statement. At the same time the White House made public a letter to Prime Minister Nehru of India assuring him that "this step does not in any way affect the friendship we feel for India."

"Quite the contrary," the President said in the letter delivered to Nehru by Ambassador George V. Allen yesterday.

"We will continually strive to strengthen the warm and enduring friendship between our two countries."

The decision to give aid to Pakistan was taken under authority granted by the foreign aid law and requires no further congressional sanction.

Indian leaders had been highly critical of the idea, previously discussed, of giving military aid to their neighbor. One obvious reason was the possibility that it would tip the scales in that part of Asia to India's disadvantage.

The next step will be to send a mission to Pakistan to determine the exact needs of that country. This will be done shortly, the White House said.

Late News---

Woman Plunges to Death

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A woman fell to her death today from the 13th floor of the Professional Building at Eleventh St Grand Ave.

Joseph Connors, a deputy coroner, said a letter left in a coat in a rest room on that floor bore the name of Mrs. Harvey Frisbey, Kansas City, Mo. Officers reported the woman had visited the office of a physician prior to the fatal plunge.

Bloody Indochina Battle

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — French and Vietnamese troops kept trying today to wipe out Vietminh forces infesting the key Red River Delta of north Indochina. The French claimed 60 rebels killed and 54 captured.

Buy NYC Stocks

CLEVELAND (AP) —Texas millionaires Clinton W. Murchison of Dallas and Sid W. Richardson of Fort Worth, bought the 800,000 New York Central shares owned by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway for 20 million dollars, the C. & O. announced today.

Both men are friends of Texas-born Robert R. Young, now engaged in a battle for control of the 10,417-mile long NYC, the nation's second biggest rail line.

Fall Between Train Cars Proves Fatal

WEST QUINCNY, Mo., (AP)—William Herbert Coulson, 52, of Quincy, Ill., was killed instantly last night when he fell between two cars of a moving freight train in the Burlington Railroad just south of here.

Coroner Harold O'Donnell of Marion County said Coulson apparently was trying to board the freight train at the time. No inquest was planned.

EXCUSED — Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, above, is shown as she was sworn in before the Senate investigations subcommittee. Senator Joseph McCarthy sought in vain to question Mrs. Moss, an Army civilian employee, about charges that she was a Communist. Nervous and weeping, she was excused from the witness stand without testifying. (NEA Telephoto.)

Man Charged With Killing Third Wife

First Two Died Violently in 1920s; He Was Mental Case

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A white-haired, mild-appearing man, whose first two wives died violently in Chicago in the early 1920s, was accused late last night of killing his third wife here.

George F. Sack, who was committed to a mental hospital seven years after being accused of shooting his second wife to death, was charged here with asphyxiating Goldie Goodrich Sack, 56, last week.

For six days medical experts had sought to determine the cause of death of the woman, whose body was found in a vacant lot across town from the apartment house which Sack owned and where the couple lived.

The medical experts reported just before midnight that the cause was "asphyxiation in a manner as yet unknown." Police at once took out a warrant charging Sack with first-degree murder.

He had been free on $10,000 bond, after being booked as a material witness because a resident of the area near the vacant lot reported he had seen Sack's automobile parked beside the lot the night Mrs. Sack disappeared.

State Freight Rates Increased On ICC Demand

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission bowed to the demands of the Interstate Commerce Commission today in ordering an increase in intrastate rail freight rates to put them on a par with interstate rates.

The increases will cost Missouri intrastate shippers an estimated $750,000 to $1,000,000 more a year, a PSC spokesman said.

Last year, the state commission refused to raise rates within the state to the same level as interstate rates on grounds there were inequities in ICC orders that split Missouri into four rail freight zones. But Feb. 1, the ICC issued an ultimatum:

Missouri had to raise intrastate rates by March 19 or the ICC would do it. In effect, that would be outright federal control of Missouri intrastate rates.

Egypt and Syria Chiefs Out In Coups Announced Today

No Official Word on Move In Damascus

But North Area Radio Says Rebels Take Over Rule

LONDON (AP)—North Syria's Aleppo radio claimed today that rebel forces have overthrown Syrian President Gen. Adib Shishekly but the radio station in the capital, Damascus, broadcast normally at midmorning and made no mention of any trouble in the Middle Eastern country.

A brief dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent in Damascus, filed at 11:40 a.m. Damascus time, also made no mention of any trouble in Syria. It reported merely that the resignation of Egyptian President Mohamed Naguib had been announced by Damascus radio and that Shishekly was "not available" for comment.

News dispatches from Damascus must pass through censorship there.

Dasmascus radio, however, had been off the air earlier today and missed the regular early morning home newscast. Its later broadcast included a musical program and regular announcements.

The Aleppo broadcast, as monitored in London, said that rebel forces had seized the north, east and western regions of the country south of Turkey. It did not identify the rebels.

Damascus is in the far southwest of Syria, near the Lebanese border. Aleppo is in the northwest, south of the Turkish border.

A pint-sized strongman who has come through 26 assassination tries and plots on his life in the last four years, Shishekly took over rule Dec. 2, 1951, after leading a bloodless military coup that ousted a pro-Russian premier.

Shishekly rounded up a dozen opposition leaders and proclaimed martial law in several areas of Syria last month, saying there had been attacks on his troops. The imprisoned men, including leaders of the powerful Druse tribesmen of south Syria, were accused of "openly calling for mutiny and disturbance."

The rebel Druse leader, aged Sultan Pasha el Attrache, fled into Jordan Sunday night with 35 of his men and was granted temporary political asylum. The sultan had been in hiding since the government acted to put down the tribal rebels.

Pianist Takes Formaldehyde In Despondency

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Police rushed to the home of pianist Oscar Levant today after they said he told a telephone operator he would be dead within 30 minutes.

Levant, 47, was found in bed unable to talk coherently and was rushed to a hospital where his stomach was pumped out, said Police Chief C. H. Anderson.

The chief said officers smelled formaldehyde in the musician's room and reported that in the hospital Levant said he had taken two teaspoonsful of it.

Formaldehyde is often given to intoxicated persons to sober them up, the chief said.

Anderson said that the pianist's physician, Dr. Morley Kert, said that Levant is in an extremely nervous condition.

The chief added:

Levant apparently had been trying to reach his wife by telephone. The operator was unable to make the connection and said she would try again in 30 minutes. Levant told her he would be dead in 30 minutes.

The operator notified police.

Hospital attendants said his condition was not serious.

Work Begins On New School At Knob Noster

16 Classrooms For Elementary Students Planned

Work has begun on the construction of a new, 16 - classroom elementary school building in Knob Noster. Grading was underway Wednesday by the William S. Rawlings Construction Co., Kansas City, which has the general contract for $190,884. Total cost of the building will be $246,466.

In addition to the 16 classrooms, it will contain a large, multi-purpose room and a modern kitchen. Lower grade rooms will be self - contained, providing drinking fountain, wash basin and toilet facilities.

Outside walls will be of structural glass from the floor level up, and the first 30 inches will be of blue translucent structural glass. Otherwise, the outside walls will be of brick. There will be tile brick wainscoting in the corridors. Floors will be laid with asphalt tile patterned to blend with the color schemes of the rooms. Window frames will be of structural aluminum, eliminating the need for paint.

Bids were opened Jan. 29. The spirited bidding made it possible for the school district to obtain four additional rooms for the building. The chosen contractors and their bids are: general contract, Rawlings, $190,884; heating and ventilation, Spillman Furnace Co., $16,433; plumbing, American Plumbing and Heating, Springfield, $18,268; electrical, Wollett Electric Co., Sedalia, $17,531; and kitchen equipment, Smith-St. John, Kansas City, $3,350.

The Knob Noster High School auditorium is now equipped with blackout shades provided by the pep squad at a cost of $198. Movies can now be shown any time during the day, permitting an expanded visual education program. The Student Council has arranged for an educational film to be shown every Friday at noon.

Gordon Strong Dies; Bought a Mountain, Gave It to Public

WASHINGTON (AP) —Gordon Strong, a man who realized his ambition to buy a mountain and turn it over to the public, died last night at the age of 84.

The mountain is Sugar Loaf, 36 miles northwest of Washington on the way to Frederick, Md. It rises to a height of 1,281 feet and was used as a lookout station during the Civil War.

Strong, the son of a wealthy family, first saw the mountain in 1899 while on a cycling tour with a Harvard classmate. He decided then to buy it. It was a slow process, buying woodlots piece by piece, but he finally achieved it, building a Georgian house there and paving a road, complete with parking spaces and picnic areas. In all, he spent more than a million dollars on the mountain.

Young Army Officers Oust Gen. Naguib

Nasser Is Named Premier While Presidency Is Vacant

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's ruling Revolutionary Council today dropped Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib, front man of the uprising that made a republic of thi ancient land of the pharaohs, from the presidency and premiership.

The 11 young army officers of the council named as premier Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, 36, the tall and handsome driving force of the bloodless coup that ousted King Farouk II from the throne 19 months ago. He has been Naguib's deputy premier.

Nasser also succeeded Naguib as leader of the council. The nation's presidency will remain vacant.

Naguib was in Army-guarded isolation at his simple, five-room home in suburban Helmieh. Capt. Galal Faizy, aide to National Guidance Minister Salah Salem, said the revolutionary council "has no intention of taking any measures against Naguib."

However, the army guard always stationed at Naguib's home permitted no one to enter and the guard commander said: "Obviously Naguib will avoid leaving the house for the time being." Telephone lines to the house were blocked.

A communique from the Revolutionary Council accused Naguib of seeking to draw Egypt "back to absolute dictatorship," declared he was suffering from a "phychological crisis," and reported unanimous acceptance of a resignation it said he submitted Monday.

The action came at a heated, seven-hour night session of the 11 majors and lieutenant colonels who, with Naguib, made up the council. Naguib was absent, reportedly asleep at his home.

Genial, modest and conservative, the 53-year-old general has been avoiding council sessions lately at which the hard-boiled Nasser was present, a fact which previously suggested a struggle for power.

Guidance Minister Salem told newsmen the office of president of the republic will remain vacant until Parliament is restored by elections which the regime plans in two years—after the end of the three - year "transitional period" proclaimed last year. During that period political parties are banned, although the government - sponsored Liberation Rally is rising as a political force.

Cairo remained quiet. There were no signs of unusual military or police activity except for a detachment of soldiers checking the passes of newsmen around the Marconi cable office.

However, the news of the resignation of Naguib, often called "the most popular man in Egypt," caused shock and concern among politically conscious students.

Texts of the council's communique were read repeatedly over the Cairo radio. Late editions of the morning newspapers carried the announcement without comment.

Political observers believed there would be little immediate change in the foreign policy of Egypt's vigorous new government even though Nasser, dynamic and hard driving, finally has stepped to the top leadership so far as the public is concerned. That foreign policy has been defined as noncooperation with the West until the British withdraw from the Suez Canal zone.

The big question was the internal reaction.

There is bound to be concern over whether the young military clique will adopt more radical measures in the future. Naguib, a prayerful moderate of a military career family, has been regarded as the council's balance wheel.

Nasser is rated the most fiery exponent of Egypt's current bid for British withdrawal from the Suez Canal zone. Since he was a youth of 17, he has been an underground leader of forces fighting corruption in government.

Like Naguib, he is a wounded veteran of Egyptian campaign in the Palestine war of 1948 and has shared in the public appearances at which Naguib was acclaimed as a popular idol.

President since the monarchy was formally ended with the proclamation of a republic last June 18, Naguib has been the main link between the young officers' clique and the masses. His warm human kindness made him the first Egyptian leader in decades who touched the hearts of a people so long ruled by wealthy autocrats and corrupt politicians.

In discarding Naguib, the officers apparently feel they are strong enough to risk any temporary unpopularity until the country begins to feel the effects of long-term agricultural and economic reforms they have promised to better Egypt's poverty - stricken millions.

The communique pictures Nasser as the real leader of the revolutionary movement and said an abnormal situation was created when Naguib was placed over him as president of the council.

Calls Red China Invitation a 'Gain'---

Dulles Assures US It Did Not Lose Anything at Berlin Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles has assured the nation it lost nothing at Berlin and gained much — including a chance to bring Red China "before the bar of world opinion."

Dulles, who returned five days ago from the month-long Big Four talks, told a nationwide radio-television audience last night:

"You may ask whether it was worthwhile to go to Berlin . . . My answer is 'yes' and I have no doubt about that."

He said two results "will profoundly influence the future" and described them as:

1. Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov was forced by the U.S., French and British delegates "to show Russia's hand" — a hand which Dulles said hung on to all it had, including East Germany and East Austria, and grabbed for more.

2. Molotov gave in, at the last hour in a "concession . . . not to be ignored," and signed a declaration spelling out "U. S. refusal to recognize Red China.

It was this point—America's long-withheld diplomatic recognition of Communist China—which Dulles hit time and again. His half-hour speech, besides domestic radio-TV coverage, was beamed also in 33 languages to both sides of the Iron Curtain.

His report to the nation climaxed his campaign to convince critics anywhere that the Communist world was not "appeased" in arrangements agreed upon at Berlin for the holding April 26 of an Asian peace conference at Geneva, Switzerland, and in a lack of progress on the German and Austrian questions.

From some quarters in Congress and abroad, notably South Korea, have come criticisms of the outcome at Berlin.

To those voicing fear that a meeting with Red China will imply U. S. diplomatic recognition, he said:

"That fear is without any basis whatsoever. Those throughout the world who suggest that the prospective Geneva conference implies recognition are giving the Communists a success which they could not win at Berlin."

"The Communist regime will not come to Geneva to be honored, but rather to account before the bar of world opinion," he said.

He repeated that the United States got precisely what it wanted in arrangements for a Korean peace conference.

"It was agreed," he said, "that a conference will be held at Geneva, as we have long ago proposed, and that the composition will be precisely that which the United States also had proposed."

As to Indochina, he said that "was primarily and properly the responsibility of France," which has been fighting Communist Guerrillas there for nearly eight years. He said the United States will continue advising the French and loyal native forces and supporting them with money and equipment.

He confessed a suspicion of Russia's willingness to agree to a Korean peace conference "100 per cent (on) our terms."

"But I do not wholly exclude the idea that the Soviet Union might in fact want peace in Asia," he said. "We can hope so, and we shall see. In the meantime, we shall keep on our guard."

Mrs. Sid Condict's Recipe Was Divided

Mrs. Sid Condict's recipe for Butterscotch Whirls, included in last Sunday's Recipe Section of The Democrat, was somehow divided with part of it on one page and part on another.

She has received so many calls about the recipe, we are here putting the two parts together for all who would like to try this delicious dessert:

Butterscotch Whirls

2 Cups all purpose flour.
1 Cup brown sugar.
1 Egg.
½ Cup butter.
1 Teaspoon vanilla.
½ Teaspoon salt.
½ Teaspoon soda.

Sift, then measure flour, cream butter, add sugar gradually, add egg, beat well. Add dry ingredients and vanilla blending well. Divide dough in two parts, roll half-inch thick, spread on date filling, roll like jelly roll. Place in ice box several hours. When ready to bake cut thin slices from roll, place on greased baking dish. Bake 375 degrees about 10 to 12 minutes.

Date Filling

¾ Cup dates (chopped).
½ Cup water.
½ Cup sugar.
1 Tablespoon lemon juice.
¼ Cup chopped nuts.

Cook dates, water and sugar until dates are soft. Cool and beat until smooth, add lemon juice and nuts. Spread on dough. Three dozen cookies.

Delbert Bergfelder Falls from Pole, But Has Only Minor Injury

Delbert Bergfelder, 520 East Fifth, fell 25 feet from an electric line pole Thursday morning, but is believed to have escaped with only minor injuries, mostly bruises.

Working in the new Woodlawn Addition, just west of State Fair Blvd., near Third Street, Bergfelder had just climbed the pole and was belting-in when his hand slipped and he fell. He landed on one shoulder.

He was rushed to the Bothwell Hospital where x-ray pictures were made, but which did now show any fractures.

Bergfelder is employed by the Missouri Public Service Co.

Green Paint Smearing Teen Agers Arrested

CHICAGO (AP)—Six teen-age boys were seized by police last night and admitted spraying green paint in a south side home and on between 60 and 70 parked automobiles. Police estimated damage at $10,000.

The boys, one 13, two 14, and three 16, were held in the Juvenile Home.

Mrs. Kay Ebbitts, R. M. Shelton Recently Wed

Mrs. Kay Ebbitts, Kansas City, and Mr. Robert M. Shelton, Kansas City, formerly of Warrensburg, were married at 11:30 o'clock, Saturday morning, February 20, in Kansas City.

The wedding took place at the St. Francis Xavier Church and was followed by a reception at the Blue Hills Country Club for a small group of friends who attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelton left for a week's stay at Gulfport, Miss., after which they will be at home in Kansas City.

Mr. Shelton, father of Mrs. Milton S. Kendrick, Knob Noster, is vice president and general manager of the Commonwealth Theatres.

Loyal Rebekah Lodge Plans for Installation

The regular meeting of the Loyal Rebekah Lodge, No. 260, was held Friday evening, Feb. 19, in the IOOF Hall with acting noble grand, Mrs. Forrest Rumsey, presiding.

During the business session, plans were made for installation March 5 of noble grand-elect Mrs. J. R. Ramey, who recently underwent surgery at SBA Hospital in Topeka, Kan. Plans were also made for a program commemorating the birthday of Schuyler Calfax, founder of the Rebekah degree.

A past noble grand, Mrs. Minnie Snyder, who has been a member of the Rebekah degree for over 50 years, and has been unable to attend lodge for the past two years on account of illness, was able to be present.

Demonstration Given La Monte Homemakers

Mrs. J. F. McKeehan and Mrs. P. C. Reed presented a demonstration on making copper plaques and planter boxes to the 12 members present at the meeting held Feb. 19 of the La Monte Homemakers Club.

Roll call was answered with "My Favorite Apron," which brought many varied answers.

The club was happy to have Mrs. L. Wode and Mrs. A. M. Felton as guests for this meeting.

St. Aloysius Club Gets Airmen Members

At its bimonthly meeting Feb. 17 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, the St. Aloysius Club added several Catholic airmen, assigned to the Sedalia Air Force Base, to its membership rolls.

The Catholic chaplain at the base, the Rev. Fr. James McCullough, thanked the club, on behalf of the airmen, for admitting the men. He stated that a good enviroment is important for men in the service and that the St. Aloysius Club makes available a contribution to this environment.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Horace Mann PTA Has Founders Day Program

The Horace Mann PTA met Friday afternoon at the school. The meeting was devoted to the founders of the Parent - Teacher Association.

After the devotional by Mrs. Ray Brown, the school band was presented in four numbers under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Marcks.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Eugene Herrick. The PTA voted to sponsor an art exhibit to be held at the school.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Byron Oswald read the names of the past presidents. Those present received a yellow rose. They were: Mrs. Phil Burford, Mrs. E. D Marshall, Mrs. W. F. Schwenk and Mrs. A. A. Chambers.

All could not be present but letters were received from Mrs. E. G. Bylander, Mrs. Fred Anton Jr., Mrs. Bonnie Huey de Freese and Mrs. S. W. Bell.

Also attending and presented with a yellow rose was Mrs. Leonard Hall, who was responsible for getting kindergartens organized in Sedalia.

Mrs. E. D. Sutherlin, Founder's Day chairman, then introduced the speaker, Mrs. M. E. Green. In her talk, Mrs. Green was able to bring us a glimpse into the personnel lives of Mrs. T. W. Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, the founders of the PTA.

A tea followed the meeting. Miss Mary Jane Anderson and Mrs. Raymond Marcks poured.

Recreation Workshop Here Next Week, C. of C. Sponsored

The Community Recreation Workshop will be held in Sedalia Monday through Friday of next week and will be conducted by Mrs. Anne Livingston, who has been a member of the National Leadership Training Staff of the National Recreation Association since 1943. She has conducted training courses for professional and volunteer leaders in every section of the country.

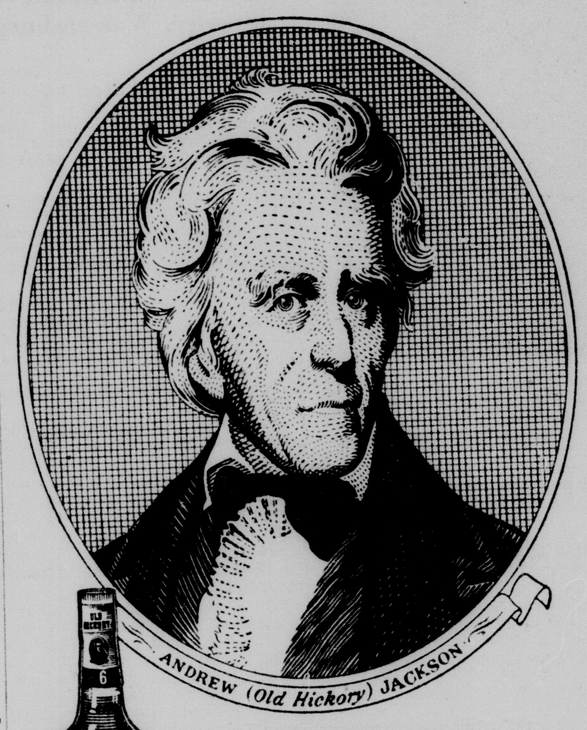

In her classes, Mrs. Livingston gives demonstrations of games adaptable for varied use on many different occasions, such as banquets, annual meetings, holidays, picnics, family fun nights, etc. Participants play some of the games she teaches, and they in turn are taught to lead and plan recreation for occasions as needed.

A demonstration workshop will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 2, at Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria to which those interested from churches, PTAs, rural organizations, Scout groups, civic clubs and other organizations will be welcome.

Two other special sessions will be the Summer Playground Planning at the Little Theatre, Smith-Cotton High School, at 10 a.m. Friday, March 5, and the Summer Playground Activities at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria, for schools, park board members, city officials and anyone interested in summer playground activity, at 2 p.m. Friday, March 5.

A schedule during the five days has been planned for various other groups.

The Community Recreation Workshop is being sponsored by the recreation and education division of the Chamber of Commerce, of which Robert B. Cain is director.

Blames 'Love Bug' For Marriage Increase

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—"I guess more people got bitten by the love-bug."

That's the only suggestion a statistician offered today for a big increase in the number of marriages in Missouri.

Reverting to the more prosaic attitude of folks who keep statistics, she reported that 28,373 marriages took place in Missouri during 1952, while an estimated 33,090 marriages occurred last year.

Sid, Imogene to Split At End of TV Season

NEW YORK (AP)—The top NBC television team of Six Caesar and Imogene Coca will break up at the end of this season, the World-Telegram and Sun reported today.

The newspaper's amusement editor, Marie Torre, said Caesar, who now earns $25,000 a week, will sign a 10-year contract with NBC for his own one-hour show starting next fall.

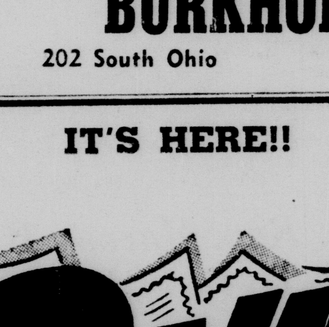

Miss Coca, who gets $10,000 a week, will remain under contract to NBC and "participate" in a half-hour comedy series, also starting in the fall, Miss Torre said.

DAR Enjoy Colonial Tea At Blair Home

Osage Chapter, Daughters of the America Revolution, met Saturday afternoon, Feb. 20, at the home of Miss Jessie Blair, 420 South Grand, with regent presiding.

Two new members, Miss Nell Longan and Mrs. R. J. Martin, who was formerly a resident of Sedalia but is now living in Kansas City, were introduced and received officially into the chapter.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. W. T. Bishop, program chairman, asked Mrs. W. P. Tucker to introduce George Hosford, who is a pupil of Oak Grove School of which Mrs. Tucker is teacher. George is president of the Oak Grove Citizenship Club and read his essay entitled, "What Constitutes a Good Citizen." He entered his essay in the National Citizenship Contest.

Mrs. Bishop then introduced Miss Marion Keens, who gave a review of Agnes Rothery's book, "New Roads in Old Virginia." The book was particularly interesting at this time because it told of George Washington's living in Virginia. Miss Keens described the historic landmark in the towns of Alexandria, Fredericksburg, Williamsburg and Richmond. She related how many of them had been restored to their original appearance, described William and Mary College and its many beautiful buildings. The state of Virginia may proudly claim not only George Washington, but many other outstanding historical figures who contributed so much to the development of our country, she pointed out.

At the close of the program members were invited into the dining room were a colonial tea and social hour were enjoyed. A color scheme of red, white and blue was carried out in both floral arrangements and refreshments.

Miss Blair was assisted in serving by the following members: Mrs. Harley Vaughan, Mrs. Leonard McClure, Mrs. R. B. Rupard, Mrs. S. A. Condict, Mrs. L. L. Jones, Miss Jessie Browneller, Mrs. Charles Hanley, Miss Kathryn Courtney and Mrs. W. E. Terrell.

Mrs. James Hosford, mother of George, was a special guest.

Economist Reports Average Government Mortgage of $1,992

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A college economist reports that every American, whether he realized it or not, is saddled with a government mortage that averages $1,992 and is a first lien against his property and income.

Dr. Clyde W. Phelps, head of the economics department at the University of Southern California, yesterday released results of a study he has made on how much each American owes in federal, state and local government debts.

"On the average, John Q. Public owes a per capita state debt of $46, plus a local government debt of $144, and to top it off a per capita federal debt of $1,802," reported Dr. Phelps.

"All this government indebtedness . . . constitutes a first lien against the property and incomes of our citizens," he stated. "The disturbing thing about it is that this paramount mortgage against the citizen continues to grow larger and larger year after year."

Bandit Is Thoughtful

CINCINNATI (AP)—Thomas Kane, 52, told police a man held him up at knife point last night and took $26.23. Then the bandit handed him 25 cents and told him to take a bus home.

Club Operator Is Cited, Jailed For Contempt

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Frank (Buster) Wortman, a pinball machine and night club operator in the St. Louis area, was cited for contempt and jailed by U. S. District Judge George H. Moore when he refused to reveal his home address yesterday before a federal grand jury.

Wortman, appearing before the jury currently investigating reported labor racketeering, said he might incriminate himself by disclosing his address. He refused to give his address when ordered to do so by Judge Moore.

Wortman's attorney, Sidney Glaser, told Judge Moore that if Wortman was under investigation by the fraud section of the Internal Revenue Bureau the disclosure of his address might incriminate him. Judge Moore, however, agreed with federal attorneys who said Wortman's address was necessary to identify him properly before other questions could be asked by the jury.

At Judge Moore's request, Glaser gave an example of how a man could incriminate himself by revealing his address. The attorney explained if a man has a residence worth $20,000 and he reports an income of only several thousand dollars a year, his connection with the house might incriminate him.

Glaser emphasized that "I am just giving you an example."

Wortman, who eluded subpoenas to testify before the Senate crime committee headed by Sen. Kefauver several years ago, reportedly lives at Collinsville, Ill., just across the Mississippi River from St. Louis.

WHY SUFFER LONGER FROM SUPERFICIAL MUSCLE PAIN

OF ARTHRITIS, RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, BURSITIS, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO* or Fatigue and Muscular Aches and Pains of Simple Colds

Get fast temporary relief from such local pain with SURIN—the amazing, sensational new scientific preparation. SURIN is a different superficial muscle pain relief preparation. It works ultra-fast to give you temporary relief at the point of pain. SURIN is based upon a new application of a principle. Contains powerful modern research drug—b-methacholine chloride which dilates surface blood vessels in local area when used at point of pain. This gives SURIN rapid 2-Way Action (1) increases local circulation (2) allows local, relaxing agents, camphor and menthol, and local analgesic methyl salicylate to penetrate quickly. Relief comes pleasingly quick upon application of SURIN and lasts from 1 to 3 hours. SURIN is a new, amazing preparation. No internal dosing—use SURIN locally. It's a boon to sufferers from superficial muscular pains. Different from old-fashioned rub ointments or liniments. Has new, smooth, creamy-white ointment base. Easily applied. Will not stain washable fabrics. Washes off easily. Try SURIN today sure! Money back at your druggist's if not highly pleased.

*SURIN is not intended as a cure or treatment of above diseases. It is to be used only for fast temporary relief of local superficial pain.

Benson Views Bring Storm Of Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson's expression of views to a presidential board weighing a railway labor-management dispute has brought protests from the AFL, the unions involved and a farm organization.

"It was not an attempt to interfere, only to present facts," Benson said in New York in reference to his Feb. 3 letter to a fact-finding board, named by president Eisenhower, which is now meeting in Chicago to consider welfare and insurance demands made by 15 rail unions.

The unions, in a telegram to Eisenhower, urged a "strict reprimand if not impeachment" for Benson.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the White House, not aware of the letter until yesterday, was trying to learn all the facts and might have a statement after Benson returns to Washington today.

The AFL's president, George Meany, called on Eisenhower yesterday to lodge a protest. He told newsmen afterward:

"Secretary Benson has been pressuring the board very strongly not to do anything about increasing rail worker benefits that might result in higher freight rates."

Benson's letter, as made public in Chicago, urged the emergency board to "find some solution which will neither bring about a work stoppage on our railroads nor give justification for another increase in agricultural freight rates."

The railroads say that union demands for free life insurance, medical care and other fringe benefits would raise operating costs 630 million dollars yearly. The unions involved have threatened to strike in support of their demands, but have set no date.

Leaders of the 15 unions said Benson's letter was "an unwarranted and outrageous infringement of the rights of railway workers." In their telegram, they urged Eisenhower to disavow the letter.

Warns Russia Wants to Win All of Europe

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer warned today that "sovietization of Europe" is still the supreme goal of Russian policy and called on free Europe to unite quickly to block this threat.

Opening a debate in the Bundestag on the Berlin Big Four conference, the Chancellor said:

"The Soviet Union intends to maintain its present advanced position as a jumping off point for the eventual domination of all Europe.

"More than ever now there exists the necessity for Europe to unite its resources. The European Defense Community must become a reality."

Adenauer predicted that the Soviets, after failing to split the united front of the West in Berlin, will make a new effort to divide the Big Three powers at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Asian problems.

But he welcomed the Geneva parley, saying:

"The Soviets are less interested in a change in the European situation than in easing tension in Asia. The Berlin conference showed that the German problem can never be settled alone. The (West German) federal government welcomes any move to ease tensions in other parts of the world because this will have an effect on the German question."

Committee Clears Way for Fast Senate Approval of Warren

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 12-3 committee vote cleared the way today for speedy Senate confirmation of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, said he planned to take President Eisenhower's nomination of Warren up in the Senate tomorrow. "I believe the Senate will give the chief justice an overwhelming vote of confidence," he added.

No senator, not even any of the three who voted against committee clearance, has said publicly he will vote against confirming Warren's appointment.

Warren has been serving on the Supreme court since last October under an interim appointment.

Howard Brubaker Going to Hawaii

Howard Brubaker, ADAN, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brubaker, Bunceton, left for Treasure Island, San Francisco, after spending an 18 day leave with his parents and sisters.

Howard enlisted in the navy March 10, 1953 and after recruit training at San Diego, attended schools at Norman, Okla., and Memphis, Tenn. He graduated from the school at Memphis Jan. 29. He will be sent from Treasure Island to his next assignment at Hawaii. He was graduated from the Bunceton High School in 1951.

What Can He Lose?

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Dewey Miller questioned the young man throwing a tantrum in her husband's drugstore here.

"My mama won't buy me a cap pistol," he screamed.

"Well, now," said Mrs. Miller, "when you throw one of these fits does your mother always buy whatever you want?"

"No," replied the boy. "Sometimes she does. Sometimes she doesn't.

"But it isn't any trouble to scream."

PETTIS COUNTY CORN CHAMPIONS—Honored recently at a banquet in Jefferson City were these Pettis County winners of the 1953 National DeKalb Five Acre Corn Growing Contest. First place winner Cyrus C. Charles (left), Houstonia, received the county championship plaque for his yield of 123.72 bushels of corn per acre. Emil Wellner, Sweet Springs, took second place with his 95.67 bushel yield, and Gussie Whittall (right), La Monte, was third place winner with his yield of 73.35.

Highway Patrol Is Cooperating In Courtesy On Highway Plan

Colonel Hugh H. Woggoner, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, said that starting March 1, the patrol, along with other policing agencies and safety organizations throughout the United States, would launch a program to promote courtesy on the highway on a community level. The national sponsors of the program will be the National Safety Council, Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee and the National Committee for Traffic Safety.

"Courtesy as the theme of a highway safety program is nothing new," Colonel Waggoner said. "We believe," he continued, "if all drivers will make a real effort to use courtesy in driving it may become contagious and we would like to see an epidemic in every town and city in Missouri, for we know that courteous driving will save lives."

Discourtesy breeds highway accidents which kill and injure and are costly to any community in lost time and money. The pay-off for courteous driving is well worth the effort. The benefits are more enjoyable driving and safer highway travel.

The seven rules for making courtesy the code of the road are: 1. Share the road by driving in the proper lane; 2. Allow ample clearance when passing; 3. Yield the right of way to other drivers or pedestrians; 4. Give proper signals for turns and stops; 5. Dim headlights when meeting or following vehicles; 6. Respect traffic laws, signs, signals and road markings; 7. Adjust driving to road, traffic and weather conditions.

Every driver who adopts and practices the seven rules of courtesy will strike a big blow against the tremendous highway traffic fatality total that claimed the lives of more persons in the United States last year than the total fatalities suffered by American troops during the Korean War.

Hennings Claims GOP Policies Are 'Give-Away'

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo) charged today the administration's power policies amount to "a give-away that would make Teapot Dome and Tidelands oil look like chicken feed."

He said the fight "to keep private power monopoly from moving in" had become "one of the major battles of our time."

"The Eisenhower administration and the Republican leadership in Congress are going steadily forward with this gigantic giveaway," he said. "They are shifting the federal partnership with the people's local public and cooperative agencies to partnership with private power monopoly."

Hennings' charges were part of a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the state Rural Electrification Association. Unable to be present in person, the senator sent the speech here to be read at the afternoon session.

He reported the odds seemed to be against public power sponsors but advised the REA co-ops not to give up their fight for Table Rock Dam on the White River and electricity from Southwestern Powed Administration projects.

Dutch Boy Returns Norwegian's Wallet

MONTREAL (AP) — Edvard Mydland, a Norwegian farmer emigrating with his wife and two children to a farm in Alberta, lost his wallet in Montreal's Central Station yesterday. In it were his baggage checks and nearly $200—all the money he had.

The wallet was found and returned by Robert Lampe, 8. He's Dutch, recently arrived with his mother and younger brother from their home in Gelsenkirchen, Netherlands, to visit relatives in Toronto.

Truck Firm Asks For Route Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Interstate Commerce Commission has under consideration an application by a Kansas City truck firm, Riss & Co., and 24 other companies for extensions of routes in 35 states.

A hearing before the ICC wound up yesterday. The requested routes are those over which the truck firms would transport government ammunition.

The Riss firm yesterday labeled claims it is unfit to haul explosives safely as "lies fro... the rail carriers." Railroads are opposing the proposed extensions.

FBI Arrests Two In 1952 Hijacking

ST. LOUIS (AP)—FBI agents last night arrested two more men in the 1952 hijacking of a $50,000 whisky shipment in suburban Normandy.

J. E. Milnes, agent in charge of the FBI office here, identified the pair as Jack Gagliano, 36, an iron worker, and Joseph Cammarate, 29-year-old pipefitter. Both were arrested at their homes.

They were charged with stealing and aiding in the stealing of 625 cases of whisky on Nov. 10, 1952. The whisky was recovered a month later at a suburban Wellston warehouse.

Five persons have been indicted in the hijacking, which also has figured in the state's ouster suit against St. Louis County Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley. The handling of a reward paid for the recovery of the whiskey is listed among state charges against Mosley. A hearing in the ouster suit now is recessed.

Students Donate Blood

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Students at Alabama Polytechnic Institute donated 1,842 pints of blood in two days, described here as a national college record.

Clerk Bluffs Bandit Out of a Hold-up

BALTIMORE (AP) — Alma Buzby, a fast-talking dry cleaning store clerk, successfully bluffed a bandit out of a holdup here yesterday.

At first she tried to convince the bandit it was all a joke. After that failed, she told him there was a man in a back room of the store.

There wasn't any man and there wasn't any back room, but the bluff worked. The holdup man backed out of the door and fled.

Wortman Goes To Jail Cell For Contempt

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Frank (Boster) Wortman, ex-convict and mystery figure, was in the St. Louis jail today, the third federal grand jury witness to be jailed in one week for contempt of court.

The 49-year-old Wortman was locked up yesterday on orders of Federal Judge George H. Moore for refusing to tell the grand jury where he lives.

The grand jury is investigating reports of labor racketeering and also has been directed to determine whether union funds have been used improperly. But just what information it sought from Wortman was unknown.

Wortman has no known labor connections. He is reported to be the operator of nightclubs and a pinball machine firm.

In 1950 he was sought as a witness by the Kefavuer crime investigating senate committee, but could not be located for service o fa subpoena.

It was Judge Moore who sent two officials of the AFL Teamsters Local 688, Missouri's largest union with 10,000 members, to jail last week for refusing to let the grand jury examine the union's financial records.

Harold J. Gibbons, secretary-treasurer of the union, and Louis Berra, his assistant, were freed when the records were made available to the grand jury on orders of the international teamsters union.

In refusing to tll the grand jury where he lived, Wortman explained to Judge Moore: "Well, your honor, I am no attorney, but they tell me if you answer a question you open up an avenue of inquiries."

Wortman is said to live in a suburb of nearby Collinsville, Ill.

Wortman was sentenced to 10 years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., for an assault on federal agents during a raid on a whisky still near Collinsville in 1933. He was released from the prison in 1941 after serving more than six years of the sentence.

An attorney for Wortman told Judge Moore that, as an example, a witness might incriminate himself by disclosing his address if he were under investigation for possible income tax evasion.

The attorney, Sidney Glazer, said if a man had a home worth $20,000 and he reported an income of only several thousand dollars a year, his connection with the house might incriminate him.

"I am just giving you an example," Glazer told the court.

"You don't need to give me any more examples," Judge Moore said.

Explorer Scout Course In Radio Has Started Here

The first Civil Defense Communications Course for Explorer Scouts was held Wednesday night at the Armory with Herbert Young as instructor.

Mr. Young explained a little about the various phases of amateur radio, from the first step, learning the code, to the building of radio sets. The large group of enthusiastic boys included ten Boy Scouts in addition to the Explorer Scouts for which the course was originally planned.

The meetings will be held on Tuesday nights at the Armory instead of Wednesday nights (during Lent) and Mr. Young, assisted by other amateur radio operators, will first teach the boys the international Morse code.

Attending the meeting Wednesday night were: Herbert Young, Paul Anthes, district commissioner, Kenneth Farley, Explorer advisor of Post 52, and the following boys, Richard Deason, James Rouchka, Dick Wherley, Larry Owen, Donald Edde, Ronald Koullen, Bill Couhig, Don Durley, Johnny Steele, Richard Parkhurst, Jim Lelf, Lyle Brown, Francis Moser, James Anderson, Nelson Lee Painter, Carl Moser, Dave Watson, Billy Mateja, Tony Palenoy, Tony Larson, Bob Krueger, Bill Kreisel, Bob Heuerman, Roy Paxton, Ronnie Turner and Dick Woodsmall.

Mr. Young told the boys of an amateur radio operator in another town he learned was a nine year old girl..

SAFB Arranges Special Children's Program For Saturday Morning

The children of the officers and airmen stationed at the Sedalia Air Force Base will have a special program conducted for them Saturday at 10 a. m. at the Service Club. They will be taken on a tour of the base, and several entertainment features will be scheduled for them.

Those who cannot be taken by automobile to the service club that morning will be picked up by bus in Sedalia, LaMonte and Knob Noster. In Sedalia, they will be picked up at 9 a. m. in front of the courthouse; in LaMonte, at the Phillips Service Station at 9:30 a. m.; and in Knob Noster, at the trailer court at 9:45 a. m.

The parents are asked to be on hand to meet their children when the children are returned. In Knob Noster, they will be returned at 11:15 a. m., in LaMonte at 11:30 a. m. and in Sedalia at 11:45 p. m. They will be returned to the points of pick-up.

The parents are invited to attend the program.

Accuses Demos Of Slow-down Slap at Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) angrily accused Democrats of using "slowdown" tactics against President Eisenhower's program after they forced an abrupt Senate adjournment last night, 48-45.

Knowland, the GOP floor leader, told reporters, "It is apparent to me that there has been a filibuster going on to prevent action on this constitutional amendment." He referred to the proposal, offered originally by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and since modified in major respects, to limit treaty powers. The Senate has been debating it most of the time since Jan. 20.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas quickly wanted to know if Knowland believes "the Bricker amendment is a part of the Eisenhower program."

"If so," Johnson asked newsmen, "where does he get his information?"

The White House has fought the Bricker proposal strenuously.

Knowland charged the Democrats with wanting to take over control of the Senate, and he told newsmen:

"Unless we can proceed here with the public's business, the Eisenhower program is going to be jeopardized. If the responsibility is going to be shifted to the Democrats and we can't get a program through, then the public should know where the responsibility lies in the future."

Johnson replied that the Democrats were not seeking to take over when they forced the Senate to halt debate on the Bricker amendment over Knowland's objections.

He also declared that "if there is a slowdown, it's a Republican slowdown." He said an analysis of the Congressional Record shows Senate Democrats have done 37 per cent of the talking since the 1954 session began.

The Democratic leader also took a personal crack at his opposite number, saying, "It ill behooves anyone who has occupied the floor as much as Knowland (on the Bricker amendment) to talk about anyone stalling."

Johnson said the Democrats were ready for a quick showdown on the treaty power question.

Daylight Holdup Follows Night Of Burglaries

JOPLIN (AP)—A bandit obtained $300 today noon in the holdup of the Home Savings and Loan Association in downtown Joplin.

Mrs. Mary Lou Moffett, who was in the office, said the man wore a windbreaker and kept one hand in his pocket as though he held a gun. However, she did not see the gun.

After taking the money he forced Mrs. Moffett, and Mrs. Harriett Mason, a switchboard operator, to lie on the floor behind a counted.

The FBI was called into the holdup since the association is a federal banking affiliate.

Hubertine, San Antonio, Tex., Mrs. Odelia Starke, Jefferson City and Mrs. Mela Bornhoft, Weiner, Ark. One son died in infancy.

Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's Church at 9 a. m. Friday, the Rev. J. T. Nolan to officiate. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery..

Pallbearers will be Fred Kuhlman, Jacob Krause, Paul Wiemholt, Albert Todd, B. J. Bahner and Ralph Ash.

The body was taken to the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel where friends will recite the rosary at 8 p. m. Thursday.

The body will remain there until time for the services.

Newton W. Aldredge

Newton W. Aldredge, 81, died Thursday morning at his home, seven miles northwest of La Monte.

He was born April 8, 1872, near Postal and spent the greater portion of his life as a farmer in the Green Ridge and La Monte communities, with the exception of 12 years spent in Iowa.

On Nov. 23, 1898, he was married to Miss Adeline Wilson and seven children were born to them. She died July 12, 1920. On March 16, 1925, at Council Bluffs, Ia., he married Miss Velura Cunningham, who survives as do the following four daughters and three sons: Mrs. Robert F. Thomas, Oak Grove, Mrs. Charles Ellis, Mrs. Clayton C. Kuhn and W. Aldredge Jr., all of Council Bluffs, Frank, Drummond, Mont., Dimmitt, Decorah, Ia., Mrs. Robert E. Hall, La Monte; 18 grandchildren and one great-grandson; two brothers, James S. Aldredge, Medford, Ore., and Ernest S. Aldredge, Tipton, and several nieces and nephews.

The body was taken to the Parker-Moore Funeral Home, La Monte, where funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, the Rev. C. E. Hawn, Warrensburg, to officiate. Mrs. R. B. Burke will be in charge of the music.

Pallbearers will be grandsons: Robert Earl, Leroy and Kenneth William Thomas, Marion Lee Hall, Donald Franklin and Robert Lowell Aldredge.

Burial will be with graveside services at Miller's Chapel Cemetery. The body will remain at the Parker-Moore Funeral Home until after services.

John Mather Services

Funeral services for John Mather, 85, well known retired rural mail carrier, who died Wednesday at the home of his niece, Mrs. L. M. Lewis, 516 South Park, will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. Friday. The Rev. H. L. Alley, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will officiate.

Six nephews will serve as pallbearers: Reuben Barrick, Frank Barrick, E. E. Barrick, C. W. Wright, Ralph Grimes and Leslie Wilson.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

William F. Meyer Services

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Friday at the James Funeral Home and at 2 p. m. at the Evangelical Church in Concordia for William F. Meyer, 88, who died Wednesday, Feb. 17, the Rev. Melvin Lichte, pastor, officiated.

Surviving are: one daughter, Mrs. Nora Houchen, Louisburg; and four sons, Edwin and Herbert, Concordia; Adolph, Sweet Springs, and Dan Meyer, Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Meyer resided near Hughesville until two years ago.

Harold Dean Hall Services

Funeral services for Harold Dean Hall, six-months-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hall, Spring Fork, who died Tuesday at Bothwell Hospital, were held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel, the Rev. F. M. Robinson, pastor of the Methodist Church at Cole Camp, officiating.

Burial was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, southeast of Lincoln.

Thomas N. Phillips Service

Funeral services for Thomas N. Phillips, who died at Denver, Colo., Feb. 19, were held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. He was a son of the late S. A. Phillips who several years ago conducted a shoe shop on Engineer in Sedalia, where Lyles Cleaners is now located. He was an uncle of Mrs. Oma Cox, 1002 East Fifth, who has just returned from Denver.

Surviving are: his wife, Emma, of the home; four brothers, Stanley, Twin Falls, Ida.; Earl of Kankakee, Ill.; Marion, Halfway, Mo., and Arthur Phillips, Versailles. Another brother died a few years ago.

Pedestrian Is Killed When Struck by Car

COLUMBIA (AP)—An unidentified elderly man was killed instantly when struck by a car driven by Charles McCormack, 30, St. Louis insurance man, on U. S. 40, six miles west of here last night.

McCormack was passing another car at the time of the impact. Other motorists said they had been forced to swerve to avoid hitting the pedestrian.

A coroner's jury is investigating.

Square Dance Festival Here Saturday to Draw 400 Persons

Between 350 and 400 persons are expected to be here Saturday afternoon and evening for the first Sedalia Square Dance Festival, which will be held at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria and gym.

Reservations are being made by large groups of dancers from Sedalia as well as from Kansas City, Warrensburg, Clinton, Warsaw, Fayette, Marceline, Brookfield and Jefferson City.

The event is being sponsored by the Sedalia Square Dance Association and is being staged so all who wish to attend may do so. The tickets for $1.50 per couple include a midnight snack worth 50 cents per person, or one dollar of the total price.

A Kansas City orchestra has been secured for playing and several out-of-town callers will be here. In addition, there will be instructors for square dancing and couple dancing for the afternoon sessions.

Many committees have been named by Floyd Priddy, general chairman, and Donald Donath, president of the local association, to handle arrangements for the festival.

The after-the-dance party committee has been revised and enlarged and now includes these members: Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Corson, Mr. and Mrs. Cline Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Donath, Mr. and Mrs. John Loague, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lambirth, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Trout, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bohlken and Mr. and Mrs. Philip McLaughlin.

Square dancing is currently sweeping the country. Like many another foible of our forebears — long dresses, short collars, tapered trousers — square dancing has come into its own again. And it is not a fad. It is here to stay — as much a part of America as The Star Spangled Banner, one writer recently pointed out.

Educators and social workers call it "the great leveler." Social standing, class distinction and other manifestations of pedigree don't enter into square dancing. People from all walks of life simply join hands and have the time of their lives.

Square dancing is a bit of the old-time clean, wholesome, community entertainment, yet it has variety and demands enough skill to command respect from old and young alike. To most it's taking your partner by the hand and doing something. Not just sitting and listening and watching someone else do something.

The exact beginnings of these dances are lost in the obscurity of the middle ages. The quadrille seems to have been introduced to England by William the Conqueror and the country dances of later centuries which became a feature of English life went back to France under the name contredanse, reversing the usual procedure of language borrowing. The stately minuet and the contra were popular in England and in the early days of some of the colonies. The first contra is thought to have been the Sir Roger de Coverly, which later became known as the Virginia Reel. Today the word contredanse is translated as quadrille, so we're back to 1066 and all that.

Whatever the derivation of the country dance or the square dance, it is a form of recreation that gets lots of people together in a happy and cooperative mood.

Because of the growing importance in our daily life, square daning is being taught by an increasing number of professionals. It has even been introduced as a part of the curriculum of many of our schools.

Harold Lee Woodall, 305 West Fourth, and Mary Lou Hancock, 1720 South Ohio.

Fires In The City

The fire companies answered an alarm at 7:03 p. m. Wednesday at Second and Gentry where grass had caught fire. No damage was reported to the fire companies.

Police Reports

Thieves broke into Arnold's Grocery, 1401 East Fourth, sometime between 7 p .m. Wednesday and 7 a. m. Thursday. Entrance was gained by prying the lock off the rear door and also prying the door, forcing a drop bar to break loose. Some pennies and cigarettes were reported missing, but a further check is being made to ascertain if anything else was taken.

Elizabeth Templeton, 215 East Saline, reported to the police the loss of her billfold while at the skating rink at Liberty Park Wednesday night. The billfold is red, contained $10, social security card and driver's license.

"Dutch" Embree, 1408 East Fifth, was arrested by the police early Thursday morning and charged with driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was released on a $200 bond to appear in dourt at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Police Court

R. B. Vincent, 1001 West Main, charged with blocking an alley with his car, forfeited a $2 cash bond.

Three overtime parkers who failed to appear in court forfeited their cash bonds of $1 each.

Accidents

Cordell Henderson Rhinehart, 57, Route 1, Knob Noster, was hospitalized Wednesday following an automobile accident at a bridge 3½ miles east of Warrensburg on Highway 50. Rhinehart was driving east at 10:25 a. m. when his 1951 Ford struck the southwest corner of the first of two bridges.

Witnesses said his car bounced off the bridge railing and slid sideways for half the distance of the bridge before coming to rest. He was thrown clear of the automobile and landed in the center of the pavement.

He was taken to the Warrensburg Medical Center in an ambulance. An x-ray examination failed to show any injuries; however, he was held as a patient in the hospital.

Three soldiers driving west told State Trooper William Meisburger they met Rhinehart coming toward them just after they had crossed the bridge.

After the accident they threw a blanket over the unconscious man and directed traffic around him.

Rhinehart was the only passenger in the car, which was virtually demolished.

Mrs. J. B. Mulcahay, 520 Wilkerson, fell while walking along the sidewalk at the side of her home Wednesday and fractured her right hip. She was taken to Bothwell Hospital, where she is a patient.

Stevens Said Wanting Ike To Back Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens was reported today to be steaming with anger over interpretations of his agreement with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) as a "capitulation." His office and the White House acknowledged they had had telephone exchanges on the matter.

Stevens denied, however, a report that he was asking a public expression of support from President Eisenhower and was prepared to resign if he didn't get it.

This report came from a source close to the secretary.

When an Associated Press dispatch to this effect was shown to Stevens he authorized an aide to deny it "categorically."

The source of the original report could not be reached immediately.

He is in a position to know what has gone on behind the scenes.

Stevens was closeted with a group of top advisers when the AP dispatch was sent into him.

John F. Kane, a civilian aide, came out and told reporters he was authorized to deny "categorically" that the report was correct.

The original report was to the effect that Stevens had informed White House officials he would insist on one of the two following courses of action:

1. A statement from the President that Eisenhower agrees with Stevens that he did not "capitulate" during yesterday's secret session with McCarthy on the question of calling Army officers for testimony in McCarthy's inquiry into what he calls the Army's "coddling of Communists."

2. Agreement from the President that Stevens can say in a statement that Eisenhower is in full agreement with the secretary's position.

Stevens was reported to be angry and indignant over some phases of his go-round with McCarthy.

Further, he was said to be troubled over the possible effect on army morale.

The secretary went to his office early and launched into a series of conferences with top advisers.

One high Army officer told a reporter: "I would not be surprised at anything that happens."

Sources close to the secretary said it was Stevens' understanding that agreement was reached in his conference yesterday with Republican members on McCarthy's subcommittee that any Army officers called before the subcommittee in the future would be accorded respect.

He was said to be angry that the memorandum of agreement, read by Sen. Mundt (R-SD) after the session, omitted any reference to this and to feel it left him in an untenable position.

Minority Hits Okay of Postal Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven Democrats and one Republican dissented today from a House committee's formal endorsement of a 240-million-dollar postal rate boost, calling it an "unconscionable burden . . . contrary to the public interest."

The minority report from the 25-member Post Office Committee denounced the Eisenhower administration's bill for higher mail rates as an added "tax" and a "radical departure from the concept of public service which is the keystone of our postal establishment."

The committee majority, on the other hand, urged adoption of the rate bill and said there is need of additional revenues to offset chronic deficits in post office operations.

The majority contended that although the cost of mailing out-of-town letters would go up from 3 to 4 cents, mail users would still be getting a bargain at the higher figure.

They also defended the proposal to raise air mail from 6 to 7 cents, declaring it is justified because of the preferential and speedy handling given this class of mail.

The committee majority said that unlike business, the Post Office still is not charging all it could.

The bill, likely to touch off a bitter fight when it comes before the House soon, would hike first class and air mail revenues by about 174 million dollars a year, publishers' second class mail by 15 milion a year, third class mail by 50 million a year, transient second class and controlled circulation publication by $965,000.

Wants Atomic Energy Kept For the People

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Leland Olds said today control of atomic energy should be kept in the hands of the people and not be turned over to private power companies.

Olds formerly was chairman of the Federal Power Commission. His comments today were in a speech prepared for the 17th annual meeting of the Missouri State Rural Electrification Association.

He charged private monopoly would fatten on atomic energy patents if they were opened up to power companies.

"Any careful study of the situation from the public point of view," he said, "leads to the conclusion that we are not yet ready to amend the (atomic energy) act to open the way to ownership of atomic power by the private power companies, as President Eisenhower has proposed."

Olds said it was entirely possible that the Missouri Basin and other great regions in the country would some day be tied together in a giant federal power supply grid, interconnecting big hydro-electric plants with mighty steam generating plants.

He described atomic power as a "tremendously important supplement" to such a system.

"It can be economically feasible," he said, "whenever the government undertakes to build a big enough plant."

Branded Cars Proposed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A bill in the Arizona Legislature proposes to brand the cars of convicted drunk and reckless drivers with a scarlet letter. The bill would require the letter "D" for drunken and "R" for reckless to be placed on the rear windows of cars of offending drivers.

Recoveries Exceed Theft Reports

Horace Mann, Whittier Win In Tourney

In the second round of the Sedalia Grade School's annual basketball and volleyball tournament, the Whittier and Horace Mann teams won decisive victories to gain the privilege to play in the championship game Friday evening at the Horace Mann School gymnasium.

The first game Wednesday afternoon found the Whittier School basketball team winning a very close game, 31-27. The half-time score was in favor of the Whittier team, 19-15, but the hustling Jefferson team pressed the winners all the way.

Reed led the way in the Whittier scoring attack as he had four goals from the floor and one from the free throw line for 10 points. Reed was followed in the Whittier scoring by Harms with 9 points and Nichols with 7.

Jefferson was the favored team to win as they had beaten the Whittier team in regular season play. But the Jefferson team did not seem to have the necessary scoring power to go against the victory hungry Whittier team. Garrison was the spark of the Jefferson team with 14 points. Thompson was second nigh for the losers with 7 points.

In the second game of the afternoon, the Horace Mann School cagers outplayed the Mark Twain boys by a wide margin of 39-17. The first half was reasonably close as the half-time score found the Horame Mann team only four points ahead, 17-13. In the second half, the strong Horace Mann team ran away with the scoring by netting 22 points and defensively holding the Mark Twain team to 4.

Horace Mann's high scoring individuals included Noland, Wertz, Jones, and Brown. Noland had nine points, Wertz had eight, and Jones and Brown six.

Mark Twain's only scoring standout was Smith who had seven points for the losing team.

The championship game between Whittier and Horace Mann is to be played at 9 p. m. Friday night.

Thursday, the Mark Twain and Broadway teams and the Jefferson and Washington teams will clash with the winners being given the right o play for the consolation title. The consolation game will precede the championship game and will begin at 8 p. m.

In Wednesday afternoon's girls volleyball contests, the Horace Mann girls won easily by the score of 56-31. The Horace Mann win gave the girls of that school the right to play in the championship volleyball game against the winner of the Washington-Mark Twain game at 7 p. m. Thursday for third place.

The championship volleyball game is to be played at 8. p. m. Thursday.

Santee After 4 Minute Mile In Big 7 Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP) Wes Santee is going after the world's indoor board mile record of 4 minutes 5.3 seconds in the Big Seven track meet here Saturday night.

Santee still insists he's capable of the dream 4-minute mile but the University of Kansas senior says he'll be happy with just beating the record set by Gil Dodds in New York January 31, 1948.

A record on the boards in the meet would give the 6-1, Santee a monopoly on the indoor miles. He took care of the dirt track indoor record in 4:04.9 at East Lansing, Mich., last week.

Although Santee and his coach, Bill Easton, would welcome the much talked about 4-minute mile Saturday, both agree conditions will have to be better than the 12-lap offering and crowded track in Municipal Auditorium. The Michigan State stretch at East Lansing was 8 laps.

A record mile on the boards would be quite an accomplishment too, considering Dodds had to make only 11 laps for his 4:05.3 record. In the history of officially recognized mile runs, there have been only 14 runs under 4 minutes 5 seconds, both indoor and outdoor.

Glenn Cunningham, also of Kansas University, ran a paced mile of 4:04.4 on the 6½ lap board track at Dartmouth University back in the 1930s. That one has never been recognized as a record.

In three seasons at Kansas, Santee has been clocked under 4:10, either officially or unofficially, 17 times. Some of his faster times have been as anchor man in either the 4-mile relay or distance medley relay.

The recognized world record on any surface was set by Gunder Haegg of Sweden at 4:01.4 in 1945.

The Big Seven mile record of 4:08.3 went to Santee last winter without a challenge.

Memo Luna Injures Arm While Pitching

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Memo Luna, one of the St. Louis Cardinals' high-priced rookies, was reported today to have injured his pitching arm while doing some off-season pitching against the advice of Manager Eddie Stanky.

Whether the Mexican lefthander still has a sore arm is an unanswered question. He hasn't thrown hard in any workout since he reported for spring training here, four days late.

Stanky took note of the report that Luna, obtained from San Diego in a $100,000 deal, injured the arm while pitching for Mexico City Feb. 19 in the Mexican League.

"We asked Luna to quit pitching Dec. 1," Stanky said, "but we have no way of controlling what a man does back in his home country."

Suspends John Bratton, Holds Boxing Purse

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today suspended welterweight Johnny Bratton and held up his purse of $4,770 for an "unsatisfactory showing" in his losing decision to Johnny Saxton last night in a nationally televised bout at the Philadelphia arena.

Bratton, appearing before two of the state's three commissioners, argued that "I fought the best way I could and it isn't my fault that the crowd wasn't pleased."

The commissioners, George Jones of Williamsport, and John Holahan of Pittsburgh, reserved final decision until March 10 when Commission Chairman Frank Weiner returns from a vacation. Meantime, they ruled that Bratton former welterweight champion, could not fight in Pennsylvania.

Bratton blamed his bad showing in the 10-round bout on the allegation that "saxton didn't want to fight and continually held on and laid all over me."

Herman Taylor, who promoted the fight—his first nationally televised bout in conjunction with the International Boxing Club—told the commissioners he agreed it was not "a good fight for people to watch but I'd bet my life that it was an honest fight."

Holahan asserted: "I know it was an honest fight but it wasn't the kind of fight that we like to see in Pennsylvania boxing rings."

The commissioners refused to give any pecific reaon why they were holding up Bratton' pure and upending him. They aid thi would be dicloed at the March 10 hearing.

The 23-year-old Saxton wa not ummoned to today' meeting and had no repreentative at the hearing.

This marked the sixth time in two years that a Saxton fight provoked an aftermath of argument or some unusual circumstances.

First, there was Jan. 25, 1952, when he was awarded a TKO victory over Livio Minelli in New York. Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the fight in the seventh round and called it "no match."

Then in March, 1952, Saxton earned a TKO in the 6th round over Lester Felton, who was disqualified for holding. Felton's purse was held up although he later received the money.

In March, 1953, Saxton gained a draw with Wallace (Bud) Smith after being floored twice at Miami. That verdict was delayed 10 minutes and almost resulted in a man-made hurricane by the wrath of the fans who believed Smith won.

Last June, he lost a split decision to Philadelphia's Gil Gurner, and the fans showered the Shibe Park ring with chairs, bottles etc. They thought Johnny won.

And in December 1953, Saxton suffered his only other defeat to Del Flanagan. That decision too was contested.

Last night Saxton certainly tried to make a fight with the 26-year-old Bratton, a veteran of 10 years in the professional ring. But Bratton obviously wasn't interested.

The two judges and the referee, as well as the Associated Press, carded identical scores, nine rounds for Saxton and one for Bratton—the third. Bratton did all of his fighting in the third. He stepped back and caught Saxton flush in the face with a right hand that stunned the New Yorker. Saxton appeared ready for the kill, but Bratton's knockout efforts were thwarted

Bratton went back into his shell in the fourth round and never came out of it as he suffered his 22nd defeat against 59 wins and three draws. Saxton won his 44th. He has lost two and drew once.

Saxton said in his dressing room that he was never hurt, not even in the third round. "My style made him look bad."

Said Bratton, "I injured both my hands in the third round when I hurt him."

Yank's First Negro Realistic On Chances

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Elston Howard, first Negro ever to wear a New York Yankee uniform, is realistic about his chances to win a berth on baseball's world champions. He knows the odds are against him.

"I would like to stick," the 25-year-old St. Louisian said today, "but I have no illusions about my stage of development. After all I've had only two years in organized baseball.

"If I am sent back, I will take it the right way, with a promise to come back a better player. In the meantime, I am fighting to stick."

An added handicap for Howard has been Manager Casey Stengel's decision to convert him into a catcher. Howard, who caught some in high school, has played the outfield ever since he made his professional bow in 1948. At Kansas City last year, he was used behind the plate for a half dozen games when the regular receivers were laid up by injury.

Ezzard Charles Meets Rocky Marciano

NEW YORK (AP)—Ezzard Charles will make a second try to shatter the ancient boxing legend that "they don't come back" when he faces heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in a 15-round title fight at Yankee Stadium June 17.

No former heavyweight ruler ever has been able to regain the crown and some of the best of them have tried, including Charles. Gentleman Jim Corbett was the only ex-champ to get two chances and he was flattened both times by burly Jim Jeffries.

"Then I guess it's up to Ezzard to break the record," said Tom Tannas, co-manager of the 32-year-old Cincinnati Negro, after the match was closed yesterday at the International Boxing Club.

"We're happy now that Ezzard was passed up by Marciano last September and that Roland LaStarza got the match instead," said Tannas. "Ezzard is much better now than he was last September.

"He didn't have confidence then. Those two knockouts over Coley Wallace and Bob Satterfield have boosted his confidence. He's very determined to get the title back and is in a far better frame of mind. All I'm hoping is that he has an "on" night on June 17. Then we'll get the title again."

Marciano will collect 40 per cent of all receipts while Charles will receive 20 per cent under the terms arranged by President Jim Norris of the IBC, Tannas and Al Weill, manager of Marciano.

"It should gross about $500,000 or $600,000 at the gate," said Norris. Weill said the figure was "conservative and should do a couple of hundred thousand more."

Norris said it has not been decided yet whether to show the fight on home television or to beam it to theaters but it looks like parlor fans are going to be out of luck. Theater-TV figures to get the prize.

The 29-year-old Marciano will put his crown on the block nine months after stowing LaStarza away in 11 rounds. He always has been at his worst after long layoffs. To make up for that he'll start serious training April 1 at the Grossinger, N.Y., country club, where he already is encamped. Charles will start drilling four or five weeks before the fight, Tannas said.

The jinx Charles faces is almost as old as the history of modern boxing. In addition to Charles and Corbett, Jeffries, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott all failed in efforts to get back the title.

BOWLING

Pepsi-Cola Wins Lalies Team Bowling Tourney

The Ladies Pepsi-Cola team, last place team in the Wednesday night Streamliner League, surprised the other twenty teams by winning the team event with a 2634 score. Elaine Harvey's 484 led the team as all five bowlers hit in the 400 class.

Adco, Inc., started strong with two games over 900 but a weak 778 dropped them to second behind Pepsi-Cola.

The Independent Plumbing team gaev the three Streamliners League the top three places as they ended in third money with 2570.

Individuals took the spotlight as Mary Scott hit a 210 in her final game; Virginia Nelson crashed a 519 triple, and R. Hulett of LaMonte bowled one game 60 pins over her average to take the lead in that department.

The singles and doubles events will be held Saturday and Sunday.

Camdenton, Hermitage, Macks Creek Win In Warsaw Tourney

Wednesday night saw some high scoring basketball games on the Warsaw High School court, in the Class "B" sub-regional cage tourney, as the Camdenton team defeated Wheatland 71 to 62, Hermitage rolled over Green Ridge 87 to 52 and Macks Creek whipped Urbana 88 to 77.

In the first tilt of the night, Libby led Camdenton in winning. Downs tallied 19 for the losers for high scorer.

In the second game, Hermitage took an easy decision over Green Ridge, outscoring the G. R. boys in both the first and second quarters by scores of 26-10 and 22-16 respectively. In the third period, Green Ridge rallied for 16 markers and held Hermitage to 11. The final quarter was a different story, however, as Hermitage tallied 28 and allowed Green Ridge only 10.

Dickerson took scoring honors for Hermitage with 34, followed by Sherman with 16. Calvert led the Green Ridge attack with 16 and was followed by Harding with thirteen.

In the final game, a powerful team from Mack's Creek battled the Urbana team for an 88 to 77 victory.

R. Osborn was high point man for Macks Creek with 39 and Dowell tallied 23 for the losers.

Wichita Win Over A&M Causes Mixup

NEW YORK (AP)—National Invitation Tournament officials had a king-sized headache today, and it was all due to a successful 30-foot shot thrown up with two seconds to play.

The desperation heave by Paul Scheer gave Wichita a 67-66 victory over Oklahoma A&M, threw the Missouri Valley Conference race into a snarl and beclouded Wichita's status as an NIT entry. The Wheatshockers said when they accepted the NIT bid that they would be obliged to enter the National Collegiate Basketball Championships if they should win the Missouri Valley race.

The "if" clause didn't look very important at the time since Oklahoma A&M was comfortably ahead in the race. But look at the situation now: Wichita has completed its Valley season with an 8-2 mark, while the Aggies are 7-1 and play Tulsa March 2 and St. Louis March 6.

If the Aggies win both, they'll go to the NCAA Championships and Wichita will come to the NIT. But a tie would force a one-game playoff, which could not very well be played before March 8 at the earliest.

The NIT headache comes from the timing involved. The tournament starts its first round March 6. The latest Wichita could play its first game would be March 9, even if it gets a first round bye.

Trial Committee Exonerates CCNY Coach Holman

NEW YORK (AP) — Nat Holman, suspended basketball coach at City College of New York, whose team won the 1950 NCAA and NIT championships, was exonerated today by a trial committee of charges of conduct unbecoming a teacher, constituting neglect of duty.

The charges grew out of the college basketball scandals which broke in 1951 and involved seven players of the 1950 CCNY championship team in the "fixing" of games.

Holman, 56, who with his assistant Harry (Bobby) Sand, 36, has been suspended since Nov. 18, 1952, was cleared by a majority report of the three-man Board of Higher Education trial committee, which recommended dismissal of all charges.

The trial committee, however, unanimously found Sand guilty on two counts of conduct unbecoming a teacher.

The committee recommended that Holman be reinstated as an associate professor in the college's hygiene department as of the day he was suspended. The committee recommended that Sand be suspended without pay for one year on a retroatcive basis and that he be reinstated as an instructor as of Nov. 18, 1953.

The board will consider the recommendations at a special meeting March 3.

Baseball Roundup—

Detroit Builds New Outfield Around Rookie

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers, who for years boasted some of the American League's finest outfield trios, today were making plans to reassemble another outfield—with a 24-year-old rookie the key man.

The center of the new setup planned by Manager Freddie Hutchinson is Bill Tuttle, a speedy flychaser from Elmwood, Ill.

He batted only .276 with Buffalo last season, but he hit 11 homers, drove in 75 runs and was regarded as one of the best defensive outfielders in the minor leagues.

"If Tuttle can prove to us he can hit the kind of pitching we'll face in spring training," Hutchinson said, "we'll make room for him. We sure could use his speed and defensive skills."

Hutchinson indicated that should Tuttle make the grade he would put him in center field and move Jim Delsing to either right or left field.

Besides this pair, he has Don Lund, Bob Nieman, Steven Souchock, Pat Mullin and Al Kaline—holdovers from last year—and rookies Rufe Crawford, Carl Linhart and Fred Fleming to choose from.

Lefty Bill Ross, another first-year man, has clinched a job with the Washington Senators.

Ross, who pitched for the Ft. Ord, Calif., Army base in 1953, has so impressed Bucky Harris that he was one of seven men listed by the veteran skipper as mound regulars.

"Ross is a cinch to stick," Harris declared. "He's come up with a curve ball to go with his fast one and he's matured a lot since we last saw him."

The youngster had a brief tryout with the Senators two years ago before he was called into the service.

The other pitchers assured of jobs, Harris said, were Bob Porterfield, Connie Marrero, Johnny Schmitz, Maury McDermott, Frank Shea and Chuck Stobbs.

Elsewhere in the spring training camps, pitchers Mike Blyzka and Riney Duren came up with minor injuries as the Baltimore Orioles went through their third workout . . . Harry Agganis, seeking the regular first base job, was outstanding in a Boston Red Sox batting drill. . . . Allie Reynolds reported to the New York Yankees' camp and expressed his willingness to work at both starting and relief roles again this year.

With Ted Kazanski expected to go into the Army sometime in May, the Philadelphia Phillies were shopping for a second baseman . . . Pitcher Vernon Law of Pittsburgh looked good in a workout, showing no signs of the arm trouble which plagued him before he went into the Army . . . Manager Charley Grimm indicated that Sam Calderone and Charley White would be the Milwaukee catchers behind regular Del Crandall this season.

In the contract signing department, pitcher Jim Konstanty came to terms with the Phillies and first baseman Al Grunwald with the Pirates.

Mrs. Lloyd Parker Makes Hole-In-One At Country Club

The spring like weather was so inviting Wednesday afternoon that Mrs. Lloyd Parker, 1000 Cresent Drive, the 1953 ladies golf champion of the Sedalia Country Club, decided to celebrate by making a hole-in-one on No. 6 of the club golf course. Mrs. Parker teed from the ladies tee with her No. 3 wood and sank the ball in the cup 150 yards away.

Par on "big dinky" is three.

It is the first hole-in-one made on No. 6 in many years, the last recorded, according to Norman Scotten, the golf pro at the club, was many years ago by the late Mrs. James P. Quinn.

Mrs. Parker also played the course in 47, just six above the ladies par 41 for the nine holes.

Mrs. Robert Gouge, 908 South Harrison, and Mrs. Robert Holt, 2210 West Second Street Terrace, gasp as the ball went sailing through the air and dropped into the cup. Mrs. Parker didn't believe it, as she lost the ball in flight, and wasn't convinced until she walked to the green and saw her ball lying in the cup.

Asked about their scores in the round, neither Mrs. Gouge or Mrs. Holt cared to comment other than to remark, "it's too early in the season and anyway the course is rather rough from the winter months."

Double-Main Card Tonight At Armory

There will be action in the wrestling ring at the National Guard Armory tonight in the double-main event program sponsored by Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion. First event to start at 8:30 p. m.

Olga Zepeda, Houston, Tex., will tangle with Ann La Verne, Canton Ohio, in the first of the double-main event program. These two women should provide some unexpected thrills for the ringsiders.

Miss La Verne nearly defeated Miss Mildred Burke, Los Angeles, holder of women's heavyweight title, when the two met in the Sedalia ring two weeks ago. It was the best battle between two women wrestlers seen in the local roped square for several seasons.

Miss Zepeda, who is considered tops in the business in the Texas area is anxious to put the "whip" to Miss La Verne so as to build up a reputation and gain a meeting with Miss Burke for the title.

In the second feature of the night Richard "Dick" Brown, Overland Park, Kan., is scheduled to go against Frank Altman of St. Joseph. This should prove an interesting match due to the heated rivalry engendered when they clashed in a team-tag match two weeks ago.

Brown, who is an offspring of former World Champion Orville Brown, is making his way up the ladder in the heavyweight division and a win over Altman will be another step up.

Altman is no "push-over," however, and a real scrap can be expected when these two heavies clash with Texas rules being used. Brown has been getting some pointers the past week from his father on how to handle Altman, who has met the former champion several times in the past few years.

Brown (the father) retired from wrestling two seasons ago.

Niangua Arms Fishing Report

Forty minutes . . . four nice size black bass. If the fisherman hadn't lost his brim colored Bayou Boogie, he might have had more. The black bass are on the move. Most of them are being caught in the Big Niangua from the mouth of the Little Niangua on up to Ha Ha Tonka.

All along the banks of the Big Niangua, where the water is the lowest, fishermen are casting from the shore and taking their limits of white or silver bass. These run ¾ to 1 pound in size.

It is a little early for the crappie further down the Niangua, towards the Osage, because the water is deeper, therefore colder. Up where the water is lower, crappie beds have been paying off. The Chamber of Commerce has just completed enlarging and adding new beds to the tune of some 300.

NCAA Tourney Starts March 8 In Buffalo

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association's rugged 24-team basketball tournament starts in Buffalo, N. Y., March 8.

The NCAA tournament committee, through its chairman, A. C. "Dutch" Lonberg of Kansas University, said today the Buffalo auditorium would be the site of a first round doubleheader matching Navy and the New England Conference titlist, and Fordham and LaSalle, the Middle Atlantic Coast winner.

The next day' first round play is scheduled at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Raleigh, N. C., in the Eastern bracket and Peoria, Ill., and Corvallis, Ore., in the Western bracket.

At Fort Wayne, Notre Dame's sixth ranking Irish will take on Loyola of New Orleans, a first-timer in the NCAA playoffs, and Toledo will play a yet-to-be-named at large team.

At Raleigh the new Atlantic Coast Conference champion and the Southern Conference winner will meet.

Santa Clara University and Loyola were named as at-large entries yesterday.

Selection of an at-large team to play Toledo at Fort Wayne and determination of the three conference champions matched in other first round games will complete the first round setup in the East.

Two of the three western first round games have been set and the third—Santa Clara vs. the Border Conference champion—will be scheduled after the Border title is decided.

The other two games match Oklahoma City University and Bradley at Peoria, and Seattle and Idaho State, the Rocky Mountain Conference champ, at Corvallis, both March 9.

Except for Toledo, LaSalle and Idaho State the other conference champions scheduled for first round play have not been decided.

Front runners for the spots are Holy Cross in the New England area, Duke in the Atlantic Coast, George Washington in the Southern and Texas Tech in the Border.

Special post season tournaments will determine the representatives in the Atlantic Coast and Southern Conferences.

Eight conference champions receive first round byes and go into regional play.

Ike's Benefits Ideas Now Go To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's recommendations for pay raises and other benefits for government employes go to Congress today.

There is something in the program for most of the government's 2,350,000 civilian employes, provided Congress enacts it.

Among the presidentially approved proposals Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, takes to the Senate, Post Office and Civil Service Committee are:

1. Reclassification of the half million post office jobs with pay adjustments totaling 80 million dollars a year.

2. Numerous changes in the scales for the approximately one million civil service classified workers. These are designed to eliminate what the administration terms inequities and would cost about 150 million dollars, largely for pay raises in the middle and top brackets.

3. Unemployment insurance coverage for federal employes and coordination of their retirement system with the social security system.

4. Voluntary programs of group life insurance and of hospital and medical coverage, to which the government would contribute. These are estimated to cost the government, respectively, 25 million and 50 million dollars a year.

5. Many detailed revisions in personnel regulations, some of which would provide more high-paid jobs and more longevity and overtime pay. Provision for appointing officials to select from the top five persons on civil service lists of eligibles. The choice now is usually limited to the top three.

Eisenhower said in an accompanying statement the government needs a program "combining the best practices of progressive private employers with special demands of public service."

High Point 4-H Club Holds Meeting Feb. 5

The High Point 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Friday, Feb. 12(at High Point school with roll call being answered with "An Interesting Fact About February".

Talks at the meeting included a devotional talk by Kay Anderson, a talk on the care of the teeth by Kent Helman, a grooming discussion by Lanny Houk, and Dennis Houk conducted a quiz on interesting dates.

The club accepted an invitation from the Quisenberry 4-H'ers to attend a skating party.

Games were led by Lanny and Dennis Houk. Refreshments of cookies and hot chocolate were served.

SMOOTHER THAN A FLYING CARPET—Here's one Indian who's not concerned with flying carpets. He is learning how to operate a C-119 "Flying Boxcar" at Hagerstown, Md. The Indian government has ordered a number of the planes from American manufacturers for their air force.

Missourians May Soon Be Shooting Afghan, Korean, Turkish Birds

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Within 10 or 12 years Missourians may be shooting Afghan, Korean or Turkish pheasants right here in Missouri.

The State Conservation Commission made that public the other day but offered only the bare details. Yet it's an interesting story of scientific conservation abandoning the old idea of trying to revert to "the good old times."

Instead, science now is trying to modernize wildlife to fit today's situation. And the battle to bring the ringneck pheasant to Missouri in huntable quantities provides a fine example of the change in procedure.

Years ago, Missouri stocked pheasants from other areas of the United States and the plan failed miserably—so poorly did the birds adapt themslves to this area that only a few are left. They are scattered in the northern counties and will offer a target for Missouri hunters this fall for the first time in recent years.

But, as most hunters figure, it will be a season that opens and closes with few sportsmen paying any attention.

Still, this new plan of stocking pheasants in Missouri may work. Mel Steen, the state conservation commission's fish and game division chief, is convinced.

And he is one of the fellows who had a hand in stocking the Dakotas with that exotic and hardy bird.

Here's the way Steen explains the new plan:

Early scientific studies indicated that some factor in the Missouri habitat just didn't suit the birds. Temperature was one indication.

And over the years, Steen has been hammering away at the problem, a problem that has become even more important as Missouri's major game bird, the bobwhite quail, commenced to suffer from the inroads of intensive agricultural cultivation.

Steen says it's simply silly to try to turn back the wheels of progress just to help some particular form of wildlife—no matter how deeply he feels about wildlife himself.

But, he adds, if some forms of wildlife can be fitted into the present economic picture, he'll personally raise a lot of dust to get the project under way.

After his scientific studies he came up with a double-barreled idea that temperatures during the incubation period [illegible] the calcium content of the bird's nourishment combined to let the pheasant flourish or just die.

So he broke it down to this formula—any pheasant easily obtainable for Missouri stocking would nest in June. But Missouri Junes, combined with the relatively small calcium content of Missouri weeds and grains, just don't combine to help the pheasant.

Pheasants prosper in Kansas or other equally warm climates, Steen explains, because of the higher calcium content in the nourishment there. The parents pass on to the egg embryo the calcium produced quality that permits the egg to survive those warm incubation periods.

That's the confusing situation he decided was behind it all. And in looking for an answer, Steen wondered if a pheasant that nested earlier—say in May—couln't be found.

He had about 30 different subspecies to start with but many of those could be eliminated because they already had been tried.

Longingly, he looked at reports of pheasant studies in Russia and Red China. It was wasted effort, though, because the Iron and Bamboo curtains were too tight even for pheasants to get through.

Now the search for birds has been directed at four localities: Korea, Afghanistan, Turkey and Iran. Steen hopes the birds ordered from one or more of those areas will measure up to Missouri's pheasant survival formula. Or that it will be close enough so selective cross-breeding will produce a bird to thrive on the weather and forage offerings in Missouri.

On top of that, the wildlife technician says, progressive farming practices may be helping him out a little in his plan to bring the pheasant to Missouri in numbers. Farmers now are spreading tons and tons of lime on the land to sweeten it.

And that, says Steen, will increase the calcium content of the soil.

He figures it will take ten years to produce a huntable population of pheasants after a suitable bird has been found for stocking. It could be worth putting a mark on the year of, say, 1966. That'll give science 12 years to produce real pheasant hunting in Missouri.

Bunker Hill 4-H Plans Wood Working

The members of the Bunker Hill 4-H Club met Feb. 17 and decided that if all made one piece of woodwork alike they could have a lesson in judging when they put them all together.

Demonstration on "The Correct Way to Take a Soil Sample" was given by Donald Zimmerschied.

Eight members attended.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lemler at which time the demonstration will be given by Virle Mae and Marion Lemler.

Extension and 4-H Club Song and Game Leaders will attend a leaders training workshop Wednesday, March 3 beginning at 2 p. m. at the Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Anne Livingston, leadership training specialist from the National Recreation Association will be in charge of this workshop. She will be in Sedalia March 1 to 5 under the sponsorship of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce. This is a wonderful opportunity to get valuable training in recreation work for rural workers.

In addition to the workshop for Extension and 4-H clubs there are two other sessions of the workshop of interest to rural people. These are Tuesday, March 2, 7:30 p. m. and Friday, March 5, 2 p. m. Both of these workshops to be held at the Smith-Cotton High School.

We are looking forward to an educational and entertaining workshop. If you are unable to attend all of these sessions, be sure to attend Wednesday, March 3 at 2 p. m.

Grow Rhubarb

Growing and Using Rhubarb is the title of a new circular just released by the Missouri University College of Agricudture. Rhubarb, often called "pie plant," is one of our most popular vegetables. This tasty vegetable comes early in the spring when the supply of many vegetables is limited. Its tart flavor and attractive color add variety to winter and early meals. Given in this publication are suggestions as to rhubarb varieties adapted to Missouri and how to grow this vegetable successfully. Included are 3 full pages of recipes for using rhubarb in family meals. A copy of this many be obtained free of charge at your county extension office.

Save The Finish

Crease-resistant finishes in clothing fabrics have done so much to keep clothes looking fresh and also such finishes save pressing that they deserve care in laundering. It is best to wash clothes or fabrics with a crease-resistant finish in warm rather than in hot water. Very hot water will remove some of these crease-resistant finishes after a number of washings. Another point to remember is that Chlorine bleaches may cause yellowing of some crease-resistant finishes. It is always wise to read and follow laundering directions that come with the garment.

Bulletin Board Handy

If you've never had a bulletin board on your kitchen wall, you've missed a mighty handy gadget for it is useful for clippings, market reports and reminders of things to do. And as a part of the home business center, you'll find that it will aid you in keeping home records accurate.

Curtain to Make Your Kitchen More Attractive

If your kitchen has white cabinets and gleaming white appliances, you can use color and design to relieve monotony. Or if your kitchen has wood cabinets with natural finish, you can add interest through colorful curtains, tablecloths, place mats, and other kitchen accessories.

Double sash curtains are attractive in many kitchens. They control the light, whether they are used on traverse rods, rings, or with a casing wide enough to slip easily on regular curtain rods.

Closely woven materials such as gingham, chintz, broadcloth, percale, muslin, or casement cloth may be used if the curtains are pleated to draw, or made with plain or scalloped tops, for rings, clips or loops.

You might consider the stability of tea towels and toweling as decorative fabrics for curtains. Towels and toweling offer a wide choice of sturdy fabrics in clear colors and interesting designs. But be sure the towling is colorfast. Read the label for this information.

If you use kitchen toweling, choose a firm, rough textured fabric that is not too thin. This type toweling makes good curtains and also the most absorbent towels.

Double sash curtains may be hung over the lower sash of a double hung window, with only a short ruffle or valance across the upper part, or over both sashes. When hung double, the upper section should overlap the heading of the lower half.

Loop the curtain material through swag rings. The material can be any length you prefer.

Another type that doesn't cut out light is the rodless curtain. It is a ruffle with elastic through the middle, sometimes with a little valance. Placed on all sides of the window or on the 2 sides and top, such curtains are fine for small windows.

If a closely woven material is used for the curtains, table mats can be made from the same material.

Once you discover your decorative talent, you may want to create all sorts of related accessories, such as toaster and waffle iron covers, pot lifters, and aprons to match.

Simmer Eggs—Do Not Boil

Often the question is asked: What causes the dark ring that appears between the yellow and white of a hard-cooked egg? The answer: When an egg is cooked too long or at too high a temperature, the iron in the yolk combines with the sulphur in the white and shows up as a dark layer where the white and yolk meet. Although this dark ring is unattractive, it does not affect the food value or flavor of the egg. But the white of a hard cooked egg is more tender if the egg is simmered rather than boiled. To prevent this dark ring forming, cook eggs at simmering—never boiling temperature — and do overcook. Cover the eggs completely with cold water. Bring the water to simmering, and simmer 25 to 30 minutes. Then serve hot or cold as desired.

Sometime Before Congress Can Act On Atom Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) said today it will be "quite some time"—probably over two months—before Congress can act on President Eisenhower's proposal to give this nation's allies more atomic defense information.

Cole, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said the group now is closely studying proposed legislation forwarded by the administration.

The President requested, in a special Feb. 17 message, authority to exchange with America's allies "such tactical information as is essential to the development of defense plans and to the training of personnel for atomic warfare."

Cole said in an interview the committee would introduce a bill after it decides on a version it considers satisfactory.

He added the committee measure might not be ready until mid-April.

The committee is following the same procedure, he said, on the President's second main proposal, to permit private industry to operate nuclear facilities and deal in fissionable material as a means of encouraging the development of private power from atomic energy.

Committee members generally have expressed support for the President's program, but nearly all of them have stressed the complexity of legislation needed to carry it out.

The problem in releasing more atomic information to Allied nations, they say, is to make sure no loopholes are opened for espionage.

Battle Over NYC Control Has Shifted

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new shift of strength in the battle for control of the New York Central Railroad appeared possible today as directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway prepared to meet.

William White, NYC president, said in New York last night that 800,000 shares of NYC stock held by C&O had been purchased "by certain wealthy individuals who must have paid about 20 million dollars."

C&O had no comment on the report, but said it would issue a statement when its board meets this morning.

Presumably the statement will deal with the stock since it is one of the topics expected to be discussed.

The 800,000 shares represent about 12½ per cent of the 6,447,410 outstanding and are held by ICC order in a voting trust exercised by the Chase National Bank.

They are a crucial issue in the proxy battle for control of the NYC being waged by Robert R. Young, former C&O board chairman.

White said "we consider this sale a favorable development for us. It explodes Mr. Young's claim that 90 per cent of the New York Central stockholders are behind him."

He did not elaborate on the remark, but a NYC spokesman said that if Young had 90 per cent support he would not be buying huge blocks of stock.

The 800,000 shares were placed in the voting trust after the ICC in 1948 said the NYC and C&O were competing roads and turned down Young's bid for two directorships on the Central board. Young was C&O board chairman then, but resigned last month to make his bid for NYC control.

White's statement yesterday added:

"There seems to be some conniving going on. Exactly six years ago this very day Chesapeake & Ohio published a pamphlet stating the advantages to the C&O stockholders of C&O holdings of New York Central stock, but now that Mr. Young has other ambitions the interest of C&O stockholders is apparently ignored.

"Notwithstanding all the public statements which have been made, there would seem to be a continuance of close relationship between Mr. Young and Chesapeake & Ohio. In any event, C&O has been very cooperative. We understand that the C&O board of directors is going to have a special meeting tomorrow to ratify the sale which has already been made."

Young, who has been attacking what he calls the "Morgan bankers" on the NYC board, had no comment on the statement.

At current rates, the 800,000 shares of NYC stock held by C&O are worth $19,200,000.

SASSAFRAS FOR THE CAPITOL—Rep. A. S. J. Carnahan, Missouri Democrat, comes down to the House Office Building post office where Postmaster Beecher Hess, right, has a big package for him. It's a sack of sassafras roots from Missouri State Legislator W. T. Dollinger of Van Buren, in Carter county. Carnahan said the fragrant stuff would be used to make tea for both House and Senate restaurants Friday. It's all part of the current stir over high priced coffee—sassafras being suggested by some as an inexpensive substitute. (AP Wirephoto)

And It Grows In Pettis County---

Mrs. Crow Agrees Sassafras Tea Is a Wonderful Drink

First she read George Scruton's Crossroads article on coffee in the Sedalia Democrat and the next morning she read about the tea party in Congress in the Kansas City Times, and about that time Mrs. Homer Crow, 1609 South Moniteau, felt she just had to say something about sassafras tea.

Mrs. Crow grew up in Carter County, down in the Ozarks, where they are getting all the publicity on sassafras roots that is being sent by Carter County citizens to all senators and representatives. And she would like for people to know that Carter County doesn't have a monopoly on sassafras — Pettis County has sassafras, too.

For awhile Mrs. Crow lived in another state where there were not many trees and the things she had known and loved in the Ozarks could not be found. Then they came back to Missouri and to Pettis County, where everything was so beautiful. Among the nice things she found here was that sassafras grew here just like it does in Carter County, along the road, by fence posts, many places in the clay soil.

Mrs. Crow goes out and gathers the roots to make the red colored tea that has a distinctly different taste from other teas. A delicious taste, she thinks.

The yellow blossoms of the plant attract bees. In the fall the leaves turn yellow and then scarlet. The birds like the red berries and it is the seeds from the berries that start young bushes. There is also yellow sassafras, but Mrs. Crow likes the red best.

After the sassafras roots are gathered, they are scrubbed, the thin, paper-like skin removed as well as all of the black spots. Peel the bark off, put a small amount of bark in a pan of cold water and heat slowly. Then serve hot. Sugar and cream may be used.

The bark may be used again and again, until all the juice is gone.

It is good, says the Pettis County woman from Carter County, and it is good for you.

For that afternoon pink tea, try sassafras. Or just any time at all. "We might as well have some tea parties in Pettis County as in Washington, D. C., for here grows that wonderful root that old timers felt was the best of all spring tonics," she vows.

Benson Says GOP Farm Program Is Result Of Earlier Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson says the Republican farm program "is largely what the 80th and 81st Congresses enacted into law in 1948 and 1949."

At a dinner in his honor last night, given by food industries and farm organizations, he said:

"What we recommend as regards variable price supports is what the Department of Agriculture itself proposed in 1947.

"It is what the former occupant of the White House (Harry S. Truman) strongly urged in the spring of 1948."

Davis Family To Jeff City

KNOB NOSTER—Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Davis moved last week to Jefferson City where they will make their home. They sold their home here to Milton Kendrick, who will make it into a rental duplex.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Harold Helms were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brady, Kansas City.

Mrs. Lida Westbrook returned to her home in Houstonia Sunday evening following a visite with her sisters, Mrs. Grover Coats and and Mrs. H. H. Smiley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Harold Helms spent Wednesday evening in Clinton at the home of Mrs. Helm's mother, Mrs. Smiley Walker.

Marion Roberts is confined to his hame suffering from a heart ailment.

Ernest and S. L. Adams spent Sunday in Kansas City ts guests of Mrs. Myrtle Tieman and family.

Easter Dates

The Council of Nicaea, in 325 A. D., decided that Easter should be the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after March 21. The date, therefore, moves between March 22 and April 25.

Gunshot Wounds Fail To Stop Runaway Bull

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — In the best Western tradition, a runaway bull stood his ground, snorting at officers and schoolchildren as police fired 14 rounds of ammunition into its body with revolvers, shotguns and rifles.

The bull broke through a wire fence at the Cornett Packing Co. during the noon hour and about 50 youngsters deserted their school ground to watch the big show.

Pistol shots only got the animal more angry as he tried to get away. Finally, one officer roped him and while he was held a shotgun blast through the brain finished him off.

The average American is using about 20 per cent fewer oranges and grapefruit than before World War II but about 1,500 per cent more canned orange juice.

Most Wives' Hubbies Enjoy Normal, Dull, Working Life

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—The other night I saw a very funny play called "Oh, Men! Oh, Women!"

It concerns a young wife who is unhappy although her husband is a successful actor, loves her, is faithful and is a good provider. She has a nurse for the kids, a cook, maids, gardener, the works.

So, feeling bored and useless, she goes to a psychoanalyst and after a few sessions decides maybe she ought to assert her independence. She suggests a trial separation to her husband. Being a reasonable man, he blows his top, gets loaded and tracks down the analyst.

Why, the lurching actor asks the doctor, do so many modern women feel unimportant and useless in the important job of running a house and raising children? Why do they envy those in the "outside" world? What do they think they're missing? "And, finally, doctor," the actor shouts, "tell me this. Tell me, what's on the outside?"

At this point, both men and women, from the $6.60 seats to the last $1.80 seats in the balcony, roared with laughter and stopped the show with wild applause. It was clear the play had struck home in many homes.

Obviously, while few wives have cooks or nurses or psychoanalysts, many wives have the same feeling of boredom, of uselessness, of missing something. Why this great wondrous envy of the mysterious world on the outside, into which husbands all over the country disappear every morning?

In the play, the doctor never answered the question. So let's face it right here and now. Just what is on the outside?

True, the outside has its rises and falls, its triumphs and setbacks, its men who get a $10 raise or are promoted to vice president or find a polio vaccine or win a Nobel prize. But do wives really know how seldom this happens?

Mostly the outside is millions of men shaving, cramming down the last piece of toast, rushing off and being herded like cattle into the cities in crowded commuter trains and buses. Do they go gaily off, as to a great adventure? They do not. They sluff off, half-asleep, numbed by the hypnotic motion of sameness, driven by unseen whips.

The outside is millions of men at the office glumly picking through the morning mail, growling over new memos from the boss. The outside is millions of men beginning another unglamorous day, reacting to the pressures of half-submerved ambitions, to the pressures of their boss, to the real or fancied competition of their fellow man.

The outside is the mid-morning coffee break which they have, not because they want coffee, but because there lurks the hope that, somehow, five minutes away from the desk will bring new solutions, new stimulation, new horizons. It doesn't.

The outside is millions of men talking shop at lunch, dissecting what old T. J. said or what old T. J.'s secretary said and the way they said it and what they meant. The outside is lunch talk about stocks or options or the raise the new man got ond the eternal threat that one day soon, unless the company comes through, by gosh, I'm going to make a break. It is dialogue that is no more refreshing, imaginative or soul-satisfying than wives' talk about formulas, BMs, new detergents or how could that woman ever afford a huge new sectional couch that must have cost $900 and on his salary!

The outside is millions of men coming back from too much lunch, half-heartedly flirting with the pretty receptionist or secretary, and 99.9 per cent of the time either party would be surprised and a little frightened if anything came of it. This is a semi-automatic maneuver that goes with manhood, a token gesture made to hold on to the franchise.

The outside is millions of men leaving a crowded desk at night with a sense of unfulfillment, millions of men being herded back to the cattle cars, dully reading the evening papers, making perfunctory conversation, secretly wondering when the fun begins.

So relax, girls. The outside is just the inside out.

Vegetables Keep Fresh In Frozen Chow Mein

ENROLLED FLAVOR—Chow mein roll-ups Chun King makes delightful supper.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

If you like chow mein, the new frozen product on the market is worth trying. Its freshness is amazing — all the vegetables have garden crispness. We think it's the best we've tasted.

This new product comes in a divided freezer pack. It contains one generous serving of chow mein with individual waxed cardboard compartments separating each ingredient: Chinese vegetables, chow mein sauce, crisp and crunchy fried chow mein noodles. This divider pack method of packaging enables each separate ingredient to retain its full body texture and taste.

To prepare and serve: Package needs no defrosting. Take package directly from freezer. Open. Remove fried noodles. Let stand at room temperature, or they may be lightly heated in the upper part of a double boiler. Place sauce in bottom of lightly greased shallow skillet stirring slightly. Requires 6 to 8 minutes of medium heat. Stir frequently. Do not boil.

Varieties available are chicken chow mein, beef chow mein, meatless chow mein.

Here's an attractive way to serve chow mein. A good supper dish.

Chow Mein Roll-Ups Chun King (2 portions o f3 to 4 rolls each)

Two packages Chun King chicken chow mein, 3 eggs well beaten, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup milk, 1-3 cup pancake mix.

Combine all ingredients and beat with hand or electric beater till smooth and well - blended. Grease griddle and heat over high flame till a drop of water sizzles when added. Turn heat to medium and ladle pancake batter onto griddle using ¼ cup mixture for each. Turn when golden on bottom side. When under side of pancake is brown, pancakes are done. Meanwhile heat Frozen Chun King Chicken Chow Mein according to package directions. Place ¼ cup on each pancake and roll up jelly-roll fashion.

To cook bulk sausage for cool weather meals, mold the mat into cakes that are about half an inch thick. Place the sausage cakes in an uncovered skillet and cook slowly and thoroughly until brown and crisp on both sides. When you take the sausage from the skillet put it on paper towels to drain off any excess fat, just as you do when you are cooking bacon.

Sedalia Lions Will Sponsor Broom Sales

The Sedalia Lions Club will sponsor a broom sales program in Sedalia sometime in April, the club voted at the regular meeting Wednesday. Funds obtained through this sales drive will be used in the blind work of the local organization.

Also a blind project which will tie in with the sales program is the blind canes which will be purchased by the club from funds derived from the drive. These canes will be the latest in illuminated paint which reflect in the dark when car lights shine on them.

It will be the project of the club to ascertain the names of every blind person in Pettis County and furnish to them the proper size cane without any charge.

The meeting of the Lions for Wednesday, March 3, has been changed to Friday noon, March 5, at which time a CAA program will be presented. The changing of meeting dates was done to cooperate with the Bothwell Hotel which will have a convention at the hotel on Wednesday.

Guests at the meeting Wednesday were Worth Wilson, Sedalia, of Joseph D. Long, and A. W. Naylor, Kansas City, Kan., of John B. Ellison Jr.

D. Kelly Scruton, president, announced there will be a night meeting of the Sedalia club on March 31, at which time District Governor June Morgan will make his official call on the club. At this meeting all new members which have been taken into the club since July 1 will be installed and their membership certificates presented.

Marylanders Schedule March on Washington To Save Old Ship

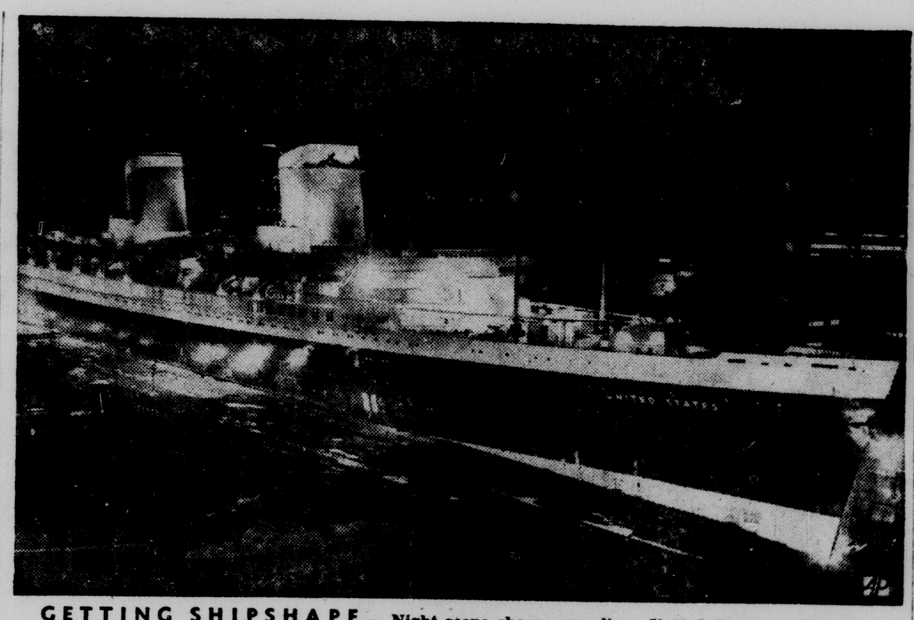

BALTIMORE (AP)—In an attempt to save the Navy's oldest ship, the Constellation, from the scrap pile, a group of Marylanders representing 27 civic and patriotic and civic organizations plan a march on Washington, D. C., Monday.

A special House subcommittee is considering a bill which provides for the restoration and maintenance of the U.S.S. Constitution and the scrapping of the Constellation and three other ships.

The Marylanders hope to persuade the subcommittee to report the bill unfavorably. The Constellation, now rotting in Boston Harbor, was built and launched in Baltimore in 1797.

Oldest Fort

The Castillo de San Marcos, at St. Augustine, Florida, is the oldest masonry fort in the United States. Its walls, from nine to 16 feet thick, are of coquina, a native marine shell-rock. Construction of the fort was started in 1672 by the Spanish, who founded St. Augustine in 1565.

Salmon Is a Thrifty Main Course

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

FOUND: A really delicious Salmon Loaf. If you've been looking for just such a recipe—one that has the right amount of bread crumbs, milk and seasoning to set off the good rich flavor of salmon—here it is. The sauce to accompany the Salmon Loaf is simple — condensed cream of celery soup thinned with milk, but the parsley added to it gives it a delightfully fresh flavor.

Garnish your salmon loaf with slices of lemon and rounds of carrot, and serve it with baked potatoes and another vegetable such as peas, snap beans or broccoli.

A one-pound can of salmon is a fine thrifty way to serve your family a protein course during Lent. By the way, the salmon bones are softened in the canning operation and needn't be discarded; they provide calcium which ur bodies utilize for strong bones and healthy teeth.

For salmon loaf, use thrifty varieties of salmon such as "pink" or "chum". The salmon is flaked in this dish and so color, texture and oil content are not important here.

You might also like to try this salmon casserole recipe because it's thrifty and easily put together. Serve it with a green vegetable or a crisp salad.

Delicious Salmon Loaf

Ingredients: One 1 - pound can salmon, 2-3 cup evaporated milk (undiluted), 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 egg (well beaten), 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 tablespoons minced onion, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon chili powder, ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce.

Method: Turn salmon, including liquid in can, into mixing bowl; add evaporated milk and bread crumbs; mix with a fork until blended. Add egg, parsley, onion, salt, chili powder and tabasco; mix well. Turn into well greased loaf pan, about 7½ by 3½ by 2½ inches. Bake in a moderate (375F) oven 40 minutes or until center is firm. Serve with Parsley Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

SALMON LOAF — To use during Lent and after.

Parsley Sauce

Ingredients: 1 can condensed cream of celery soup, 1-3 cup homogenized milk, 2 tablespoons minced parsley.

Method: Mix soup and milk; stir over moderately low heat until very hot; stir in parsley. Serve over Delicious Salmon Loaf.

Everyday Salmon Casserole

Ingredients: 4 ounces elbow macaroni, 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup, 2-3 cup evaporated milk (undiluted), one 1-pound can salmon (drained and broken into pieces), ¼ cup finely cut pimiento, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese.

Method: Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain, but do not rinse; reserve. Mix soup and evaporated milk; add macaroni, salmon, pimiento and ½ cup of the cheese. Turn into greased 1½ - quart casserole; sprinkle remaining cheese around edge. Bake in a moderate (350F) oven 25 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Wondering what to serve for Sunday night supper? How about sliced hard-cooked eggs on toast with a cheese sauce? Flavor the cheese sauce with mustard and Worcestershire.

March Is Rabies Month In State

KANSAS CITY (AP)—March is the big month for rabies in Missouri.

Dr. E. R. Price, Jefferson City, U. S. Public Health Service veterinarian, brought out the figures yesterday before the Missouri Veterinary Association.

There is a belief, he said, that more dogs are rabid during the hot months, but the facts are that March and April are the danger months in the state.

He reported there were 261 laboratory-confirmed cases of the disease in Missouri in 1953.

Dr. O. E. Ellis, Paris, was elected president of the association at the end of the 64th annual convention.

Other officers named were Dr. W. R. Sheets, Farmington, president-elect; Dr. Thomas M. Eagle, Parkville, first vice-president; Dr. P. E. Kimball, Stanberry, second vice-president; Dr. C. E. Watson, Lexington, third vice-president, and Dr. Paul L. Spencer, Jefferson City, secretary-treasurer.

St. Louis was selected for the 1955 convention.

Mrs. S. W. Haigler, St. Louis, was elected president of the women's auxiliary.

Hospitality Is Success

ADEN (AP)—Arab traditions of hospitality were used by a British official recently to trap a troublesome group of Aden Arabs.

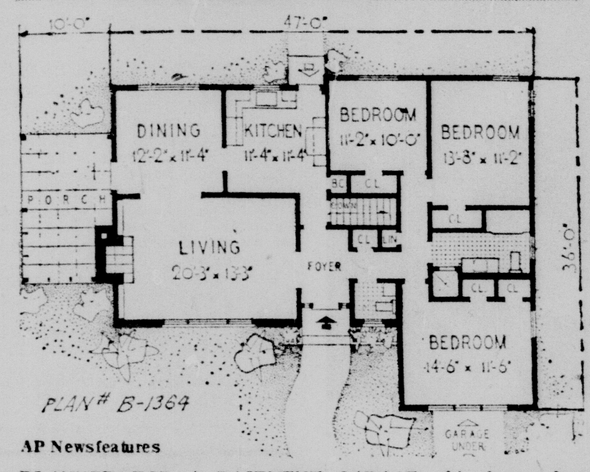

The Arabs were members of the Aulaqi tribes in revolt against their ruler Amir Abdullah Ben Mohsin. The Amir had appealed to British officials for aid.

The British invited rebel leaders to the Amir's house for discussion of differences. Since Arab traditions prevent any guest from carrying a rifle on entering the home of his host, the rebels arrived unarmed.

The British officials arrested the unarmed Arabs and are keeping them as hostages.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures

PLANNED FOR A BASEMENT GARAGE, this house has various attractive features, including a powder room adjacent to the front entrance foyer. The main bathroom has both a recessed bathtub and a stall shower. This is plan B-1364 by Alwin Cassens Jr., architect, 145 So. Franklin Ave., Valley Stream, N.Y. The house covers only 1,281 square feet, exclusive of porch, which figures separately in cost.

Promotion Is Costly

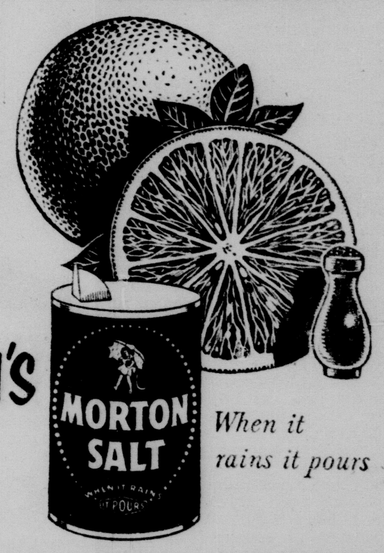

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Charles B. Keats, former Bridgeport newspaperman, took a $2,260 annual cut in pay when Governor John Lodge recently promoted him from deputy secretary of state to secretary.

Keats became secretary as successor to Mrs. Alice Leopold, who resigned to head the women's division of the federal labor department. Keats' salary as Mrs. Leopold's deputy, fixed by the state personnel department, was $10,260 a year. The secretary's salary, fixed by statute, is $8,000.

Keats called his promotion "a significant honor and opportunity which comes rarely to anybody," and said it was a situation where "monetary considerations are secondary."

Warn Auto Dealers Over 'Bootlegging'

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., and Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors Corp., have warned their dealers throughout the nation against the practice of automobile "bootlegging."

Both Ford and Curtice broadly hinted yesterday in letters to their new car dealers that if the practice continues to grow some dealers stand a good chance of losing their franchise.

(Bootlegging is the wholesaling by franchised dealers of new cars to used car retailers who sell them at less than list price.)

Protests filed by franchised dealers to the manufacturers to put a halt to bootlegging.

Charles C. Freed, NADA president, and Frederick J. Bell, executive vice president, have been in Detroit conferring with top auto executives on proposals for stopping the practice.

Ford, in his letter to Ford and Lincoln - Mercury dealers, listed five elements about bootlegging which he said hurt the dealer himself:

1. Losing direct contact with the ultimate user of the car.
2. Losing the opportunity to service the new car owner and build him into a long-time buyer.
3. Running the risk of having his product appear as "distress merchandise."
4. Undermining the basic principles of new car distribution.
5. Making it less likely for the customer to receive full benefit of his warranty and additional services.

Curtice appealed to the dealers to "cooperate with General Motors in preserving the most valued franchise in the industry." At the same time he advised them GM will continue to review their performance in carrying out their obligations under the selling agreements with General Motors.

Curtice described car bootlegging as "a malignancy which, if it is not stopped, will eat away the very vitals of your business and ours."

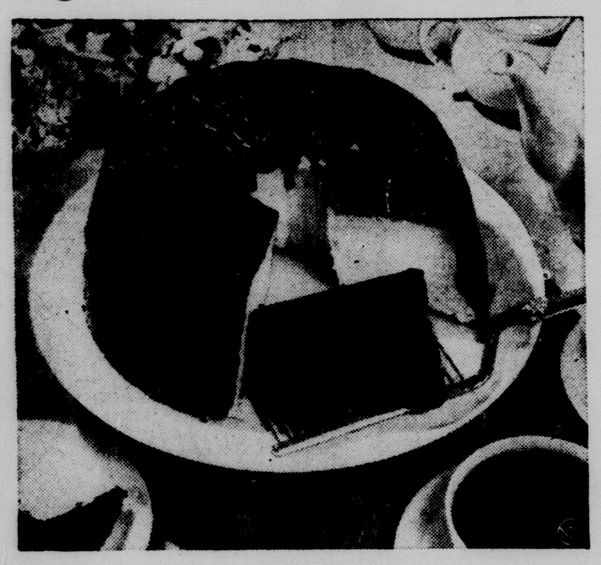

Some dealers, encountering competition from used car dealers with new cars to sell, have complained of overproduction and maldistribution of new cars. These, Curtice wrote, were not factors in the situation.

"In fact," he said, "1954 models of General Motors cars were in the 'bootleg' market before there was sufficient production to supply our dealers with the necessary stock for display and sales purposes.

"Even now some models in short supply because of limited production are being 'bootlegged.'

"Under these circumstances, there can be only one reason for this practice—the selfish desire on the part of some dealers for a quick nominal profit at the expense of the customer, the public, the dealer organization, and the manufacturer."

Chocolate Morsels Make Angel Cake Taste Heavenly

HEAVENLY—Chocolate morsels give a candy flavor to angel cake icing.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Those trim little peaks of semi-sweet chocolate, the kind used to make chocolate crunch cookies, give candy - like flavor to a quick frosting to an angel cake. It's a trick we learned from Mrs. Walter D. Way of Westport, N. Y., in the Lake Champlain country.

De Luxe Chocolate Angel Cake

One package angel food cake mix, 1 package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, 1 tablespoon shortening, 3 tablespoons light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons milk.

Prepare and bake angel food cake according to package directions. Cool. Melt semisweet chocolate morsels and shortening over hot, not boiling, water. Stir in corn syrup and milk. Spread as a thin glaze over top and sides of cake.

To get the candiest cake in existence, add a package of semi-sweet morsels to the mix. Because the texture is so delicate, the morsels must be chopped before adding to the mix. Use a French knife that has a wide blade near the handle, and with a chopping motion cut the morsels into smaller pieces. Or put the morsels through the food grinder, using the coarse blade.

Napoleonettes

Prepare rolled cookies from 1 package cookie mix; according to package directions. Roll out ⅛-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut into 3 x 1½-inch oblongs with knife or pastry wheel. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes.

Chocolate Glaze and Filling

One tablespoon flour, ¼ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, 1 package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup heavy cream, whipped, chopped or slivered nuts.

Mix together flour, sugar and salt in saucepan. Gradually stir in milk. Bring to a boil; remove from heat. Add semisweet chocolate morsels and vanilla; stir until melted. Spread chocolate glaze on 1-3 of the cookies. Cool remaining chocolate; fold in whipped cream; chill. Use to spread remaining cookies. Place 2 together layer-cake fashion and top with glazed cookies. If desired, sprinkle with nuts. Chill. Yield: approximately 16 to 18 Napoleonettes.

Signor XY Gets Memory Back Seeing Nephew

MODENA, Italy (AP)—In 1945 police found a forlorn elderly man sitting on a park bench. He didn't know who he was or where he came from.

In a hospital for nine years he was known as Signor X Y.

Now a man named X Y was enough of an oddity to be news when his designation turned up on the census rolls, so his picture was circulated in the Associated Press newsphoto service to Italian newspapers.

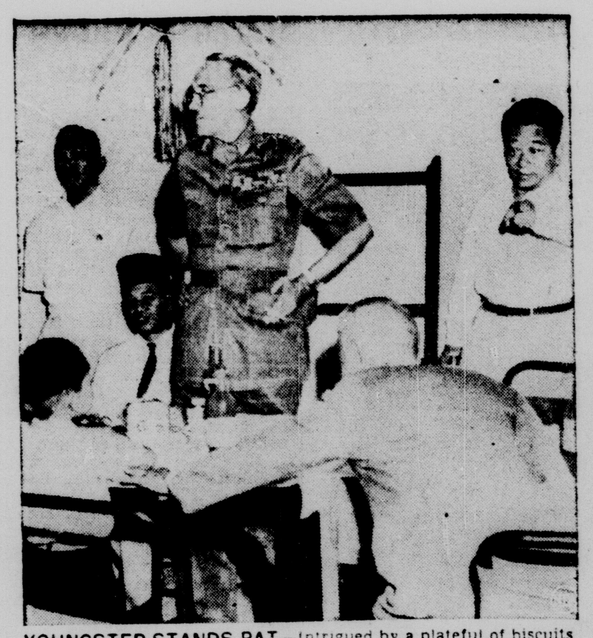

Yesterday 29-year-old Mario Mercuri dashed into the hospital waving a Rome newspaper with the picture and shouted:

"He's my uncle. His name is Giuseppe Rizzi. Where is he?"

Signor X Y was brought out and his dull eyes lit up suddenly. He rushed into his nephew's arms. A doctor said the shock of the meeting started him back on the road to remembering.

Mercuri said the German army in 1944 put his uncle to work and a tree fell on him. He was sent to a hospital and vanished—until he turned up recently as Signor X Y.

YOUNGSTER STANDS PAT—Intrigued by a plateful of biscuits and the speech of Sir Gerald Templar, this young Chinese boy stands fast, despite commands of a Chinese official to "go away." This table-top diplomatic crisis happened as the High Commissioner for Malaya spoke at the official opening of the village of Sungei Nipah.

Far East Command Gives Thimayya Salute

TOKYO (AP)—Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, chairman of the recently dissolved Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, was given an honor salute today by the Far East Command.

As the reviewing party stepped out at the headquarters parade ground, Thimayya was flanked by Gen. John E. Hull, U. N. Far East commander; Gen. Otto Weyland; and Rear Adm. Chester C. Smith.

Heavy Ship Losses

Sixty per cent of the entire prewar world fleet was lost during World War II, including 800 ships and 7000 merchant vessels, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

62nd Wedding Anniversary Of Davises

By Mrs. Verna Palmer

GREEN RIDGE—Mr. and Mrs. Cale Davis observed their 62nd wedding anniversary Tuesday, Feb. 16, at their home in Green Ridge. Their daughter, Mrs. F. A. Easter and Mr. Easter were dinner guests that day of their parents.

Miss Stella P. Buehler, Kansas City, Mo., was a recent weekend guest of her sister, Mrs. C. A. Wisdom, Mr. Waisdom and daughter, Charlene. Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Wisdom and daughter and Miss Bueleh went to Lincoln where they were guests of Mr. Wisdom's mother, Mras. W. W. Wisdom.

Miss Mary Titsworth returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Titsworth, following graduation from Missouri Valley College, Marshall. Miss Titsworth has also been teaching part time in the Marshall High School.

Alvin Howe returned home after abeing dismissed from the Veterans Administration Hospital, Kansas City, where he had been a patient several days, for examination and treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. James McCampbell and son, Harold and Mrs. Ethel Gerke, Windsor, were recent Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Inselman. The dinner was in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Gehle and James and Harold McCampbell.

The three act Junior play, "Love Is In The Air", of the Green Ridge High School will be presented Friday evening, Feb. 26 at the school auditorium. The following students are characters in the play: I. B. Perdue, Karen Smith, Marty Wimer, Mac Harding, Dale Embree, Joyce Calvert, Evelyn Scotten, Morris Hinken,, Agnes Iman, J. L. Smith, Bonnie Gorredd, Mary Ann Donahoe and Wanda Zeiger.

E. D. Allen has returned to his farm home northwest of Green Ridgge, following a seven weeks visit with his son, George P. Allen and family at Longville, La.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gordon and H. M. Stark spent last Sunday at a resort on the Lake of the Ozarks near Camdenton.

Guests spending the day at the Allen home on Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wells and son, Gene, and Vera Davis, Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Green, George A. and Mary Ruth of LaMonte, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest O. Miller, and sons, Charles, Curtis and Dale, Windsor and Henry Marshall who was in charge of the farm during Mr. Allee's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. David Farley, Kansas City, were recent Saturday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Williams. Their nephews, Jess Paul and Clyde Tharp, Sedalia, and Mrs. Stella Myers and Mrs. Lee Short were guests in the Williams home the first of the week.

Pvt. Guy E. Ridenour, sonof Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ridenour, has been assigned to the Anti-Aircraft Artillery Replacement Training Center at Fort Bliss, Tex., for his second eighth-week cycle of basic training.

Mrs. J. A. Calvert spent Saturday recently in Boonville where she visited with her daughters, Mrs. Clarence Butcher and Mrs. E. O. Rippley who underwent surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital on Friday. While away she visited with her daughter, Mrs. Claude Craig and Mr. Craig in Columbia. She also accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ripley and daughter, Barbara to Edwardsville, Ill., for a week's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul White and children, Terry and Paul, who have been residing with Mrs. White's parents the past few months have moved to Kansas City, where Mr. White has employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brownfield ad son, Paul Ray, entertained last Sunday at dinner in celebration of their son, Gordon Brownfield's birthday. Other guests present were: Mrs. Gordon Brownfield and son, Duane, and Betty and Gene Brownfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Nile Cochran were weekend guests of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cochran and children.

Use the liquid left from a jar of sweet pickles as a marinade for fresh-cooked or canned snap beans. Serve the beans cold, with meat or fish, in place of a relish.

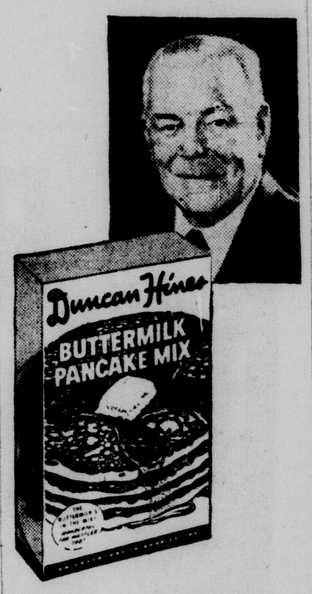

FALL IN AND COUNT OFF—Terence Albert, 2, of Minneapolis, Minn., pleads with mother dachshund to keep her brood in order, numerically, that is. Forming a sausage string, the pups are named Eins, Zwei, Drei, Vier, Fuenf, and Sechs, which happen to be numbers one through six in German. Even though the pups are numbered, Terry has trouble distinguishing them.

You don't need BUTTERMILK ...it's already IN THE MIX!

"To my taste," says Duncan Hines, the famous author of Adventures in Good Eating, "there are no more delicious pancakes and waffles than those made with buttermilk.

"That's why, in perfecting Duncan Hines Pancake Mix, I made use of an old-fashioned Southern recipe calling for buttermilk. And for the final touch, I advise adding an egg to the batter—but remember—the buttermilk is already in the mix!

"Then you sit down to the most delicious pancake (or waffle) session you ever enjoyed! Duncan Hines Pancake Mix is at your grocer's now—there's good eating waiting for you."

Man May Ride Sled Faster Than Sound

HOLLOMAN AIR DEVELOPMENT CENTER, N. M. (AP)—An Air Force volunteer soon may ride a rocket sled faster than the speed of sound, with danger only an "outside chance."

Air Research and Development Command scientists are painstakingly testing and retesting new equipment, using dummies instead of humans to make it safe for man to break the sound barrier on the ground.

Faster than any groundling ever has traveled will be the 750 miles an hour—plus—some volunteer will speed.

"The scientists are doing as much research as humanly possible," said the public information officer, Maj. Orley B. Caudill. "Any danger the volunteers may face would be an outside chance."

The project, under the direction of Lt. Col. John P. Stapp, aero medical scientist, is a stab at developing equipment to enable air crews to survive bailouts from planes traveling faster than sound.

Air Force volunteers will be strapped in a chair in the rocket sled. As the sled travels along the 3,500-foot track, the man will be rotated head over heels 180 times per minute—exposed to the same air-blast forces a pilot ejected suddenly from a super onic plane would experience.

The rocket sled, propelled by 12 4,500 - pound - thrust rockets, will have five seconds to reach the speed of sound and come to a complete halt.

In the relatively dense air encountered at 4,092 feet above sea level heat is sufficient the Air Force says, to simulate a bailout from an open seat at 40,000 feet at a speed of 1,800 miles per hour."

Scientists say they believe a human with no protective equipment has very little chance of surviving such a bailout. The conditions encountered will be reproduced accurately in new equipment made by Northrop Aircraft, Inc., Hawthorne, Calif.

Scientists must determine thresholds of reasoning, consciousness and memory of the crew members of a plane who someday may have to make such a bailout.

Two sleds—a tent vehicle and a propulsion vehicle—make up part of the groundling's equipment. The vehicle is designed to withstand forces up to 100 Gs—one "G" being the normal pull of gravity.

Reports He Punched Reckless Driver

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Walter J. Hurley went to police yesterday to report, "I just punched a road hog."

Then he explained:

Another car forced him off the road. He pursued it to a stop signal. He got out, opened the other car's door and punched the driver.

He said he wanted to get the incident on record just in case the other driver made a complaint.

Scores Perfect Grade In Civil Service Statistics Test

CHICAGO (AP)—Oswald K. Sagen, 47, made a rare perfect grade of 100 in a civil service test for a $10,390-a-year job, but he says he probably will reject the job.

Commission officials said they believed it was the first perfect grade ever made in a test for a city job.

Sagen was one of 10 applicants who took the test for the post of chief statistician in the City Health Department. He explained he was happy in his present position, chief of the Bureau of Statistics for the Illinois Health Department in Springfield, which pays $9,420 a year. He said he took the test in event an unexpected development made his present position less desirable.

Fires Revolver Four Times Before It Goes Off, Hits Wife

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charles Walter Noble, 37, Tarsney Lakes, pulled the trigger of a .38 caliber revolver four times before it finally fired, hitting his ex-wife, Mrs. Helen R. Noble of Kansas City, in her side.

Police said Noble then aimed at Attorney William Ergovich of Kansas City and pulled the trigger twice but the weapon wouldn't fire. Ergovich grabbed the weapon and hit Noble over the head.

Mrs. Noble had rushed into Ergovich's office with her ex-husband right behind here.

Noble was being held for investigation.

Man Steals $2,000 Painting of Nude

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police are looking for an amber-hued nude named Karla, last seen departing a Market street building in the hands of a man.

Thomas Leighton, who had been exhibiting his oil paintings at the Art League School, said he valued the 4x5-foot canvas at $2,000.

Jailbird Receives Handsome Oil Check

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jimmy Seeds, an Indian, was bumming "drags" off cigarettes from fellow inmates in the city jail. He had been locked up on a drunk charge.

The desk sergeant, delivering what little mail there was, gave Seeds a letter addressed to him.

Out fell a check from the government for $4,016. It was for oil lease royalties from a company that has been drilling on his reservation in Montana.

He bailed himself out in a jiffy but not before he purchased some tobacco for his erstwhile tank partners.

For two years after the eruption of the volcano Krakatau in 1883, there were abnormally long twilights and remarkably colored sunsets all over the world says the National Geographic Society.

Soils and Crops Meeting Held At Versailles

By Mrs. Charles Harris

VERSAILLES — A Soils and Crops meeting was held held Wednesday at the city hall. Speakers were William J. Murphy, extension specialist in the field, Mr. and Mrs. Max Mause and several local farmers.

"Gospel Time In the Ozarks" will be heard each Sunday morning over KRMS from 8:30 to 8:45, beginning Sunday, Feb. 28th, under the direction of the Rev. Nelson Sachs, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, Versailles.

Mrs. John Shore received word that her husband, A-3c John C. Shore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Shore of Versailles is enroute to Alaska with the 2349th Personnel Processing Group.

Mike Cain, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cain, who underwent surgery at St. Mary's Hospital, Jefferson City, was able to be returned home on Thursday. His condition is satisfactory.

Three hundred and seventy votes were cast in the special election in Morgan County last Tuesday when Rodger Kirschner, unopposed, was elected to the state House of Representatives. Mr. Kirschner is a Republican and will finish the unexpired term of Reno Warbke, who resigned while serving his second term.

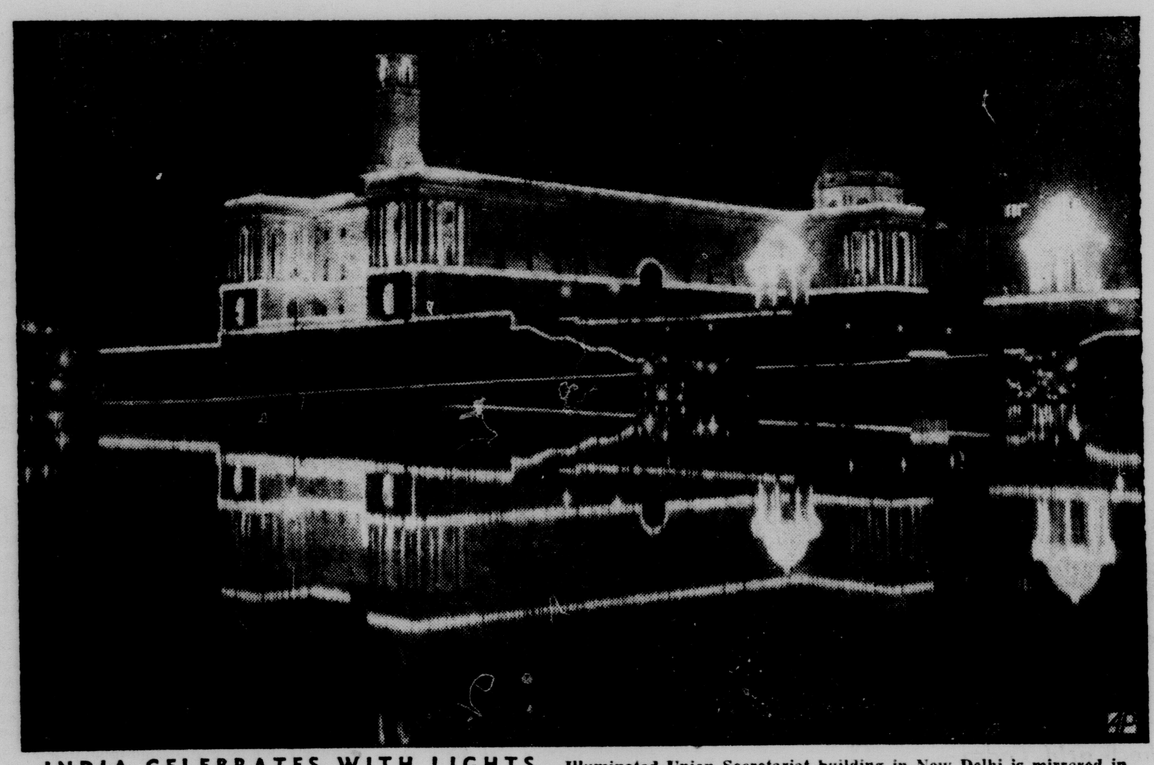

Mrs. W. J. Padgett, Versailles; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Padgett and "Handy," Mr. and Mrs. Handley, Sedalia, attended the funeral of George Reynolds in Kansas City on Saturday. Mr. Reynolds is survived by his wife the former Miss Evelyn Carico of Versailles and three children.

Mrs. Ralph Day returned home from St. Mary's Hospital in Jefferson City, where she has been a patient for several days.

Marine Ray C. Courtney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Courtney, Versailles Route 1, has recently been promoted to the rank of corporal. He is serving with the Fourth Marine Regiment, 3rd Marine Division at Camp Nara, Japan.

Between 150 and 200 persons attended the tea given last Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Conlin at the Conlin Coffee Shop. The Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Freeman were in the receiving line. The lace covered tea table held a centerpiece of red carnations and white snapdragons. Mrs. G. B. Phillips and Mrs. Birtle Huff presided at the table. Mrs. Gene Bartrum was in charge of the guest register.

When you are cooking fresh spinach; the water clinging to the leaves after you have washed them, will provide enough moisture if pou use a covered saucepan.

Which First---Buying New House or Selling Old One

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—I have a problem which is as perplexing and much more annoying than the question of which came first, the chicken or the egg.

This problem, of course, is one many people have had to deal with and, I suppose, many survived it. But I'll bet all of them were just as uneasy as I am since it defies logic, challenges faith and would split the orthicon tubes of the latest IBM electronic calculator.

It's simply this. I want to sell my house. I want to buy another house. Which do I first?

I want to sell my house for as much as the traffic will bear (a healthy, normal American trait) and at the same time buy a good, solid, charming, comfortable house for as little as I can get away with (another healthy, normal American trait), and in the whole transaction, I want to sell and buy without having to add any cash, or let's say, not much cash (still another H.N.A.T.).

There's nothing wrong with our house. It's relatively new, well-built and attractive. But we need more space and my wife thinks she would prefer another town she has in mind. We're willing to take an older house for more space but not for more cash, or let's say, not much more cash, you understand, please do, it's important.

But how do I know how much we can afford on the next house until we know how much we're going to get for our house? This, of course, has always been a perplexing problem. It's especially thorny now when the real estate market is a little wobbly.

It's not just the money. The question of timing is tantalizing. How can I tell the owner of the house I might buy, whoever or wherever he is, when I can take title until I know when the new owner of my house, whoever and wherever he is, can take over my house? Do I tell the first fellow, look, I don't know exactly when I can move in but if you'll just hold your breath, I'll race right back, put my house on the market and after a few weeks or months I'll be able to let you know when I'll want your house so that you can then know when you'll be able to occupy the house or apartment or jail you're planning your next move to, can I do that, huh?

"Above all, don't put yourself in the position of where you have to sell," an experienced friend tells me. "You'll take a licking."

"Above all, don't put yourself in the position of where you have to buy," another experienced friend tells me. "You'll pay through the nose for the next one."

The alternative to the first position (having to sell) is maintaining two houses at the same time and paying mortgages, taxes, insurance, etc., on both. The alternative to the second position (having to buy) is putting your furniture in storage, living in a hotel long enough to find an apartment you can occupy temporarily while looking for the house you can afford, and meanwhile the bills are piling up, the kids are being scarred for life by all the dislocation and pretty soon you can no longer afford the house you thought you could afford in the first place, if you could have found it.

So, what do I do? Do I set up a two-way radio station in my house and then go racing off with a walkie-talkie and the minute I see something good flash the word back to my wife who, in the meantime, has been coyly holding a prospect back home without telling him our price?

Or, maybe the best thing to do is this: I'll find a house that looks like one I can afford. Then I'll find a prospect who looks like he can afford my house. Then I'll persuade him to buy the house I saw and we'll stay just where we are, and one more complaint out of you kids and I'll tell you about when I was a boy and we slept nine to a room, not counting the cats.

Request Farmers Not Send In More Oats, Forage Crops Samples

A University of Missouri field crop specialist is requesting farmers not to send additional oats and forage crop seed samples to the university's seed testing laboratory for testing.

Reason for the request, explains C. A. Helm, is the flood of seed samples received since the first of the year. As a result, the laboratory is running four weeks behind schedule in making tests. Helm says that each day's mail is bringing in from 50 to 150 seed samples. And with limited equipment and personnel, the laboratory is unable to keep up with the requests for seed tests.

Helm says oats and forage crop samples sent in now won't be tested in time for farmers to receive the results of the test before spring planting. However, there's still time to have tests made of corn, cotton, soybean and sorghum seed since the planting date for these crops is much later.

Helm adds that oat germination is good this year with most of the hundreds of samples tested by the university's laboratory running above 90 per cent germination.

Law Curbs Scalpers

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A new ordinance obliges movie owners to sell at least 15 per cent of all tickets at the minimum price, so that soldiers and people in the small income brackets can afford to go to the movies.

Another law says at least 50 per cent of all tickets must be reserved for selling in the two hours before the beginning of each performance. This is to discourage ticket scalpers.

Secretary of Army First Tried to Appease McCarthy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sincere Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens got himself in the predicament of being summoned before the TV cameras of Senator McCarthy's committee today (Thursday) only after an amazing series of backstage events, including a telephone call to his chief, the President, at Palm Springs, Calif.

The events illustrate what happens to an official, whether Democrat or Republican, if he either appeases or stands up to McCarthy.

Stevens' phone call to Eisenhower in California was for the purpose of asking Ike whether he should issue a statement throwing down the gauntlet to McCarthy and charge him with "unwarranted abuse of our loyal army officers." Ike gave the green light. As a result, Stevens is now getting the full force of McCarthy's well-known penchant for revenge.

But some months before, Eisenhower had issued a contrary order to Stevens and to other cabinet officers — namely, to cooperate with McCarthy and give him whatever he wanted. It was the President's position at that time that McCarthy was a problem for the Senate of the United States to deal with, not the executive branch of the government, and that he, Eisenhower, would cooperate with McCarthy's probes.

How Probe Started

That was how McCarthy happened to get carbon copies of the Army's investigation of itself at Ft. Monmouth. The Army, leaning over backward to check its own security, had started a probe of Ft. Monmouth and dutifully sent the McCarthy committee carbon copies of its preliminary findings — in obedience with Eisenhower's order.

It was McCarthy's aides who spotted these carbons and notified their chief, then on his honeymoon, to come back to Washington. A big spy scandal was brewing, they figured, and the senator could ride the headlines.

So McCarthy flew back, and has been getting headlines on the Ft. Monmouth investigation almost ever since.

Stevens Leaned Backward

At first the Secretary of the Army did his best to cooperate. Stevens is a millionaire textile manufacturer with no great understanding of politics, but a sincere desire to serve his country. He inherited probably the biggest textile business in the world, was also a director of General Electric, General Foods, New York Telephone, Whitney Chain, Owens-Corning Fibre Glass and Mutual Life Insurance, but was willing to give all these up to serve as Secretary of the Army.

At first, however, Stevens served McCarthy more than he served the Army—with the result that some of the highest members of the military establishment including the Army policy board got pretty sore at him.

Furthermore some of the most reputable newspapers in the country, including the New York Times and the Washington Post, published a series of articles showing that there was no espionage at Ft. Monmouth.

McCarthy had made headlines when, on emerging from closed-door committee sessions, he announced that he was developing information leading to "extremely dangerous espionage." This, he said, "might envelop the whole Signal Corps." It might rival, he said, the Rosenberg case.

Stevens meanwhile said nothing. He failed to defend the Army. But when the stanch Republican New York Herald Tribune published a scathing series of articles showing that there was no espionage danger at Ft. Monmouth, Republican Secretary Stevens was finally pushed into a press conference at which he admitted the truth of what the Herald Tribue, the Washington Post and the New York Times were saying.

Specifically, Stevens stated that no one at Ft. Monmouth had been charged with espionage. There may have been some charges 10 years ago, back in 1944 when Julius Roseberg worked there, he said, but there was no evidence since that time.

Dutiful Army Secretary

This statement by the Secretary of the Army caused the senator from Wisconsin to hit the ceiling. He promptly summoned Stevens to New York, and Stevens dutifully went. And at a private luncheon also attended by Roy O. Cohn, McCarthy's counsel, the Secretary of the Army was rebuqed for making a statement which put McCarthy in a hole.

Lamely, Stevens explained that he was pushed into holding a press conference, and there was nothing else for him to say but the truth.

Finally McCarthy persuaded the Secretary of the Army to issue a clarifying statement, after he left the luncheon, to the effect that in making his earlier statement he, Stevens, was speaking for the Army and not for McCarthy, who had been holding executive sessions. The inference was that Stevens did not know what McCarthy had been developing in these executive sessions and that McCarthy might have run across espionage unknown to the Army.

McCarthy was satisfied—but only for a short time.

For, in Senate debate on McCarthy's appropriations, Senator Ellender of Louisiana pulled from his pocket a letter from Secretary Stevens denying McCarthy's charges of Ft. Monmouth espionage.

"Insofar as the Army has thus far been able to determine," the Secretary of the Army wrote Ellender, "there is no current espionage or other subversive activity at Ft. Monmouth."

McCarthy has been boiling at Stevens ever since. Meanwhile Stevens has come to the belated conclusion that it doesn't pay to appease the senator from Wisconsin. The conclusion results from the following: 1. The growing ire of Army officers who have been insulted by McCarthy; 2. The fact that highly important secret projects have been moved away from Ft. Monmouth because of its lowered morale; 3. The hassle with McCarthy over his former favorite boy investigator, Gerard David Schine, who has received favored Army treatment despite the protests of various high-ranking officers; 4. The attitude of pro-Eisenhower Republican newspapers.

On top of this, Stevens called the President at Palm Springs over the weekend and got an OK in effect to disregard Ike's earlier directive to cooperate with the senator from Wisconsin.

It is with this background of jumping from frying pan into the fire and back again that the harassed and harried Secretary of the Army now faces McCarthy's vengeful cross-examination.

Peter Edson's Column—

West Should Think Twice Before Trading With Reds

By Peter Edson

It is no secret that the Soviet Union is up to some new tricks, and that expansion of its trade with non-Communist countries is one of the biggest. The recent Russian offer to buy more than $1 billion worth of British equipment is potent evidence.

This offer, and any others like it, needs the the most delicate consideration. Many important factors are involved.

To begin with, the leading Allied powers are still agreed not to ship strategic goods to Russia, China or any Red satellites. The current proposed purchase list must be carefully scanned to eliminate any items which might fall into this category.

Beyond that, it has been the policy of the United States and its Western friends to develop some non-strategic trade with Red nations. Britain especially has been interested in cultivating such trade, because of its obvious dependence on exports for survival.

But it is perhaps a question just how far expansion of East-West trade, even in non-strategic goods, should go. The West has no illusions about the unaltered Soviet purpose to dominate the world by one means or another. To interlace its trade patterns too tightly with those of the Russian orbit might be to walk into the spider's parlor.

On the other hand, we cannot sanely propose no trade at all. In the first place, some items which Britain and others get from the Communist world they cannot get as cheaply elsewhere, or perhaps just cannot get.

Then again, trade works two ways. If we have dealings with the Reds, they have a chance to influence us. But we also have a chance to influence them. There's an old saying that culture follows the lines of trade. Interchance of political and other ideas cannot quite be barred so long as trade relations exist.

To the extent that the West trades particularly with the satellites, their absolute dependence upon the Soviet Union may be decreased. The same goes for China.

But we should not therefore conclude that we can wean any of them away by trade alone.

The interest of the free world suggests a cautious middle course. In each important trade decision, the test should be "balance of advantage." In other words: Who gets the most out of the deal? If we, then a deal can be made. If the Reds, we ought to veto it firmly.

All we may fairly ask of the British now is that, with full alertness of all the factors, they apply this simple test to the tempting Soviet offer.

Breast Cancer Treatment Is Easiest In Early Stages

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

The recovery rate from cancer of the breast, when discovered early and promptly treated properly, is encouragingly high. Rather rare in women before the age of 25, cancer of the breast increases in frequency as the years go by.

It is now believed that women should be taught to examine their own breasts, and if anything abnormal is found, to seek professional assistance at once. The more often this is done, the more rapidly will real progress be made toward control of this form of cancer.

The symptoms are important because they lead to that early diagnosis which is so important. A lump in the breast calls for immediate investigation. Some people mistakenly believe that cancer of the breast cannot be present unless the nipples are pulled in or actually inverted. True, this may be a symptom, although generally a late one.

More important is a flattening of some portion of the breast. Any change in the shape of the breast which has not been present before is suspicious. Also, any discharge or secretion from the nipple should be cause for prompt study.

Pain, burning, and other sensations are rare in the early stages of cancer.

Once a lump or suspicious area of the breast has been found, proper treatment involves prompt surgery with the removal of some of the tissue from the lump and its examination under the microscope.

This tissue can be frozen, stained, and examined almost at once, so that if cancer cells are found, the entire tumor and surrounding breast tissue can be removed without further delay. The longer the cancer has been present, the more danger there is that it will recur.

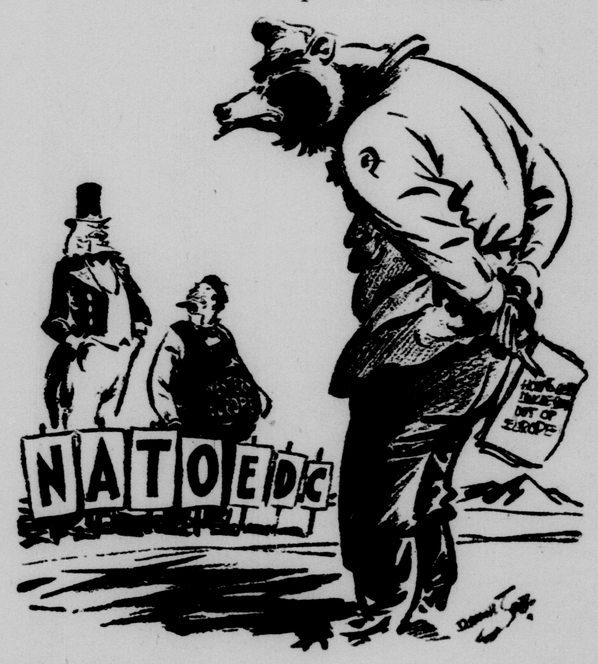

The most important thing to remember is that any change in the appearance of the breast should be promptly recognized and expert opinion sought at once. Those who delay treatment because of fear that cancer may be found are extremely short-sighted because it is with early stages that complete cure is possible. In this form of cancer in particular a little more knowledge and prompt action can prevent tragedy.

Democratic Bonds

WASHINGTON—To anyone getting U.S. Savings Bonds bearing the signature of "John W. Snyder" as Secretary of the Treasury, it should be explained that they're still good, even though that official has been out of office for more than a year. What happened was that the departing Democrats, in one of the neatest little political accidents of last year, left behind them some 30 million pieces of E-bond paper, all printed up with Secretary Snyder's signature.

To have destroyed these bonds would have been wasteful. The Republican Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey had to issue an order validating the Snyder bonds for continued sale. But Secretary Humphrey had been in office only three days when he put the Bureau of Printing and Engraving to work on bonds bearing his own signature. Many of them are in circulation now.

How Do You Spell Frustration?

The World Today—

GOPs Would Have Lost Fight

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — No matter who won the skirmish between Sen. McCarthy R-Wis and the Eisenhower administration's secretary of the Army, Robert T. Stevens, the Republicans as a party were bound to lose if the fighting became a public, televised clash.

The Republicans had campaigned in 1952 on a promise to get Communists out of the government. And McCarthy was demanding information on why it took the Army, under Stevens, more than a year to get rid of a major who had refused to answer questions about membership in subversive organizations.

A wide-open fight between McCarthy and Stevens on this point, in an election year, might have split the party into McCarthy Republicans and Eisenhower Republicans. The showdown was avoided.

Stevens, who had ordered his generals to stand back while he handled the senator pernonally in a public hearing scheduled for today, agreed to give McCarthy what he wanted after talking with the senator two hours yesterday behind closed doors in the Capitol. McCarthy then called off today's hearing.

Afterwards, Stevens was represented as surprised that the outcome was considered a defeat for him. But the general impression was that he yielded and, in so doing, created a bit of a mystery.

Did he decide on his own to back down? He seemed determined up to a minute before he saw McCarthy yesterday, to go through with the showdown today, for when a reporter questioned him, he said: "I have no comment on anytning. Tomorrow I'll have plenty of comment."

Or did President Eisenhower, who returned to Washington just shortly before the face - to - face Stevens-McCarthy meeting, tell his Army secretary not to force an open break with the senator? Or did Vice President Nixon arrange it? He was close by while Stevens talked with McCarthy.

The White House said the President did not set up the meeting. Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said the idea for the session was his—not Eisenhower's or Nixon's.

Stevens said later he is not a man who surrenders. No matter what name is placed on his action, the fact is he gave McCarthy just what McCarthy wanted:

1. McCarthy wanted the names of the Army people who handled the case of Maj. Irving Peress, a New York dentist, who received an honorable discharge this month after refusing, 14 months before, to answer questions about membership in subversive organizations.

2. McCarthy wanted to question two generals who had had some part, even though remote, in handling Peress' case. Stevens had told the generals not to appear before McCarthy because, he said, the senator was "abusive."

Stevens, after his session with McCarthy, not only agreed to give the names of all those connected with the Peress case but let McCarthy call them for questioning. And he said McCarthy could question the generals too. Stevens said he's "confident" now officers will not be "abused."

Before it can be established whether this was a surrender or a truce, this question must be answered: Will McCarthy pursue this investigation and call the witnesses or will he let the Army make its own investigation and, perhaps, give the public a report?

It's possible the Eisenhower administration, which has had several bouts with McCarthy in the past year, may have decided to have it out with him once for all in this case and then suddenly changed its mind for strategic reasons.

Several months ago, in discussing foreign affairs, Secretary of State Dulles said that, if war came, the Eisenhower administration would choose its own battleground. In this dispute with McCarthy the Army had no choice of battleground. McCarthy chose it.

These are the facts as given by the Pentagon itself: Peress was commissioned a captain in October 1952 and a few days later refused to answer the questions on subversive organizations. Nevertheless, two months later he was called to active duty. In October 1953 he was made a major. On Dec. 30, 1953, Stevens said, the Army decided to let him out because of an investigation it had made of him. On Jan. 18, 1954, the Army told him he must leave by April. On Jan. 30 McCarthy called him for questioning. The dentist refused, citing the Fifth Amendment, to answer questions. Two days later he asked for and got an honorable discharge.

McCarthy wants to know why it took the Army so long to make up its mind about Peress. Stevens already has acknowledged there were soft spots in the Army's handling of a case like this.

Democrat Pick-Ups

Odds and Ends By News Staff

IT WAS GEORGE WASHINGTON'S birthday and the hostess at the party was carrying out the theme of the day with miniature cherry trees and red, white and blue decorations. This was a covered dish supper and so the two girls bringing the dessert were going to do something special. They were going to have a white cake, with blue icing decorated with cherries.

The cake looked very pretty with its blue icing and it tasted wonderful. Everybody was having a grand time eating it when one of them glanced at the girl next to her. In fact, the one who had baked the cake. Her lips were a horrible, deathly blue. She looked at the next girl and her lips were just the same.

"Your lips," she exclaimed, "they are such a funny color."

"It is the cake icing," explained the girl across the table.

The girls with the blue lips looked a little distressed and there was a roar of laughter from everybody. The girl who first spoke about the blue lips looked around the table at the other girls. "Why," she asked, "doesn't everybody have blue lips?"

"We had the most icing," said one of the girls with the blue lips. And so they did, because they had the end pieces of cake.

Of course everybody had a little blue tint to their lips, all except one, who hadn't got around to eating the icing. She was seriously studying the situation. "What color lipstick are you wearing?" she asked the girls with the blue lips.

She was pretty sure that she had solved the mystery. It was because those two girls were wearing lipstick with a bluish shade. The others had on red or yellow red lipstick.

When it came to tongues, however, there didn't seem to be any answer except blue icing. Everybody, only the one who hadn't eaten the icing, had very blue tongues.

Everybody was sticking out their tongues and then came another comment in all seriousness: "My, you girls all have nice smooth tongues." The reaction to the compliment was more shrieks of laughter.

It was all very appropriate, red and blue tongues. Because part of the tongues were red, even if there was a blue coating, part way. Red and blue tongues combined with white teeth. Wonder what George Washington would have thought of such a party? He would have probably said in a very dignified manner: "Ladies you are going to extremes in carrying out the national colors."

—H. L.

"YOU LOOK MIGHTY nice tonight," said one young woman to another. "What did you do to that dress, it looks different?"

"I cut off the sleeves," the other girl replied.

The first girl looked at her wonderingly. It didn't seem to be the sleeves. The dress just looked different to her. "You've put on a collar," she said, as if she had the difference figured out.

"It has always had this collar," the other girl informed her.

"You've put a flower on."

"No, I always wear a flower on this dress." Then she made a confession. "You see, I always wear a flower because I lost the button that was here and I have to wear a flower."

So the first girl gave up. At least the dress looked different. Maybe it was just the sleeves.

LUKE, propped up under Frailey's care on Jake's front-room sofa and still swathed in bandages five days after the Green-Crafkin battle, declared irritably, "And I tell you again I don't know where Marratt is!"

Naome's eyes searched his face. "Did you give him my notes?"

"'Course I never give 'em to him—how could I? Like I keep tryin' to tell you, right after you 'it out of town to fetch Frailey he saddled up that big gray horse he brought an' took off, headin' south."

"But he was in no condition to ride!"

"All I know is he rode. An' he didn't waste time gettin' started."

"But why?" she asked despairingly. "Why would he ride off like that without a word?"

Luke didn't believe there was anything else Marratt could have done, feeling the way he did about the girl. Luke privately considered him one of the whitest men he'd known but this did not alter the fact of his being a man convicted of murder and sentenced to Yuma for the rest of his natural. No, the clean break was best and swiftest mended.

"I reckon he had his reasons," he answered, when the sound of doc's buggy rolled into the yard.

That the old man had news was obvious as soon as he came into the room. "Your deciding to give Ives Hanna another chance has paid off," he told Luke setting down his bag and dropping his hat to haul up a chair. "Marratt, as you know, smashed both Crafkin's shoulders. Under the impression last night he wasn't long for this world, the man was persuaded by Hanna to make a complete confession. In this statement, taken down in front of witnesses, Crafkin has admitted," Frailey told Naome, "to most of the skullduggery laid locally to your father. He has delivered himself of a terrible account in which he admits poisoning your mother and accepts full responsibility for the deaths of Jake Usher and Stanley Beckwith."

"About Dad's killing," Luke said—"did he mention why Ryerson all this time kept his mouth shut?"

• • •

"HE didn't say in so many words," Frailey answered, "but the reason is plain enough from what he did say. Ryerson, so far as ranching is concerned, has always been a square peg in a round hole. Never cared about the business or been willing to assume the least interest in its details; a man of Crafkin's caliber would naturally take advantage of this. I think Ryerson must have been more than a bit uneasy now and again, but I believe we can safely assume from the record that he preferred to ignore such things as he discovered to facing the unpleasantness of putting his foot down. When at last he realized the trend events were taking Crafkin killed Jake, I'm sure, deliberately to compromise him.

"Here, according to Crafkin's statement, is what happened. The pair of them went to see Jake about acquiring this property. During the resultant conversation Jake, by Crafkin's tell of it, became extremely abusive, suddenly dropping a hand toward the butt of his pistol. Crafkin, snatching Ryerson's, fired on the instant. As Jake was falling, Crafkin, hearing the sounds of somebody coming, thrust the smoking belt gun into Ryerson's hands. You came on the scene, Luke, to see him standing with it over your father; and from that day on Crafkin has done as he pleased."

They sat quiet for awhile and presently Usher asked somewhat querulously, "When are you figurin' to let me out of this bed?"

"Isn't that woman I sent over to take care of you satisfactory?"

"I want to make a goin' concern of this spread."

"Then you'd better stay where you're at till those wounds heal. And by the way, if Marratt should happen to drop around I think you'd better tell him there's a Ranger looking this country over for him. . . ."

• • •

MARRATT, after five days of living off sourdough and whatever he'd been able to knock over with a pistol, was still prowling the hills above Bella Loma, no nearer solving his problems than he'd been the day Gainor had got his come-uppance.

The long-buried side of his nature—the part of him that cared for Naome and was willing to acknowledge his love and its indebtedness—believed there could be no tomorrow in things he found here. Better for all concerned that he get on his horse and either give himself up or get out of the country.

Many times after thinking about Naome, he had been in the mood to do this, but each time something had stopped him; the remembrance of Charlie, demanding for Ryerson the same retribution he had dumped on Hugh Clagg.

Fair was fair. The Indian agent, Beckwith, scrambling to get his, had got a harp for his trouble. Gainor, with the example of Churk Crafkin's steals to egg him on, had staked his whole future—and his life, as it happened—on the glimpsed possibility of breaking Wineglass and becoming top dog in the process. Their misdeeds had caught up with both of these men, and with Crafkin. Did Ryerson deserve to get off scot-free with what he had done?

Washington PTA Reviews History On Founder's Day

The Washington PTA observed Founders Day in the school auditorium Feb. 19 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. George Chamberlain, president, opened the meeting by extending a welcome to the past presidents attending.

Mrs. Jack Cross gave the devotional, her topic being, "And the Child Grew."

Communications were read with notes from past presidents Mrs. Mildred Harned, Mrs. C. F. Appel, Mrs. L. E. Graham and Mrs. Herbert Abney expressing their regrets at not being able to attend the meeting.

Mrs. George Momberg, Founders Day chairman, introduced the various numbers on the program presented by the fourth grades. She gave the background of Founders' Day with the children participating

Mrs. Momberg then gave a summary of the growth of the PTA, founded at Summit school in 1914, and after the new school, Washington, was built replacing Summit.

With the help of third and fourth grade girls, dressed in formals, Mrs. Momberg presented red carnations to the past presidents: Mrs. Leland Coontz, Mrs. William Reed, Mrs. Lester Harrell, Mrs. J. W. Starke, Mrs. W. A. Korando, Mrs. Edwin Shoemaker, Mrs. Howard Gwinn, Mrs. Ralph Salmon and Mrs. J. T. Cross.

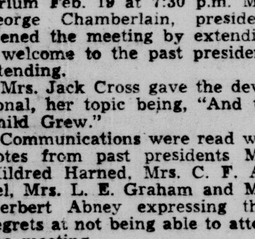

Mrs. Oliver Thomas, program chairman, announced the next PTA meeting would be March 19 with the topic, "Take Time to Protect Your Children." Dr. A. L. Walter is to be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Chamberlin announced the parent education class will meet Feb. 26 at the home of Mrs. Harold Norton. Mrs. Ernest Leibel will be the speaker, taking as her subject "A Tour of Germany," and showing slides taken by her husband on his recent trip there.

Room count award went to the fourth grades.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood--

Wiggle Has Started Sheree North on Road to Stardom

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's strange what a little wiggle can do.

It was just such a thing that started Lana Turner and Marilyn Monroe on the road to stardom. Now the same thing is happening to a luscious blonde charmer who calls herself Sheree North.

The doll appeared on Bing Crosby's first TV show and played an Irma-like role with Bing and Jack Benny. Toward the end of the show she flung off her skirt and went through a dance routine that sizzled the cables. Also the sponsor and some irate TV viewers.

"The dance was criticized as a burlesque routine," she recalls. "It wasn't. A girl who was only a burlesque dancer wouldn't have been able to do it.

"Actually, the routine was not as bad as some people made it out to be. It's just that it seemed wild after the easy pace of the show. People are used to a leisurely pace from Bing. When a girl throws off her skirt and does a fast dance number after he has been on, it's something of a shock.

"I realized this, and that's why I picked the most conservative choreographer I knew. The trouble was that I didn't have time to learn the routine. I had been laid up for two months with a broken arch. I had only a couple of hours to rehearse the dance. Then they shot it mostly from the waist up. When you have a girl jitterbugging to the 'One O'clock Jump,' it's bound to look a bit sensational."

That's putting it mildly. But while the protests poured in, so did the offers. The biggest was the possibility of filling out Monroe's "Pink Tights." She was given the most extensive test in recent years —in CinemaScope yet. Two days ago 20th Century-Fox signed her to a contract.

"I was really lucky," she remarked. "With both 'Pink Tights' and 'The Egyptian' postponed, people had nothing to do on the lot. I was given the top director, cameraman and everything."

She gets another lucky break this Sunday. She'll star in the NBC Comedy Hour version of "Anything Goes," along with Ethel Merman, Frank Sinatra and Bert Lahr. The show is getting the red-carpet treatment with Leland Hayward doing his first producing job in TV since his sensational Ford anniversary show.

"I don't know whether I'm going to dance on the show," said Sheree. "I'm almost afraid to. I don't want to offend the mothers and fathers of America."

BROADWAY ACTRESS MAY REPLACE MARILYN MONROE—Sheree North, above, a Broadway musical stage actress, has been signed by 20th Century Fox and may get the role in "Pink Tights" which Marilyn Monroe turned down when she was suspended by the studio. Platinum-haired Sheree, born in Hollywood, never got beyond the chorus line in film musicals until she went to Broadway. She appeared on Bing Crosby's first TV show recently and created a sensation with a sexy dance routine. (AP Wirephoto.)

Mark Twain PTA Honors Founders At Recent Meeting

The Mark Twain PTA met Friday at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Harold Baudendistel gave the devotional and silent prayer for the deceased Sprinkle family and the recovery for the surviving boy.

The school program was given by the lower grades. The first grade, taught by Mrs. Opal Boeschen Jones, sang two lullabies; the second grade, taught by Mrs. Virginia Staley, gave three readings; second grade, taught by Mrs. John Zulauf gave a pantomime.

The two third grades, taught by Mrs. Gertrude Roe and Mrs. Loraine Cross, sang several numbers with theis music teacher, Robert Cummins, as accompanist.

Mrs. Kennie Miller, Founders' Day chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Gib Owen, who gave a short talk on honoring the founders of the PTA.

Mrs. Miller introduced the past presidents of Mark Twain PTA and each was presented with a yellow rose. The following past presidents were attending: Mrs. H. F. Shrankler, Mrs. A. M. Hoffman, Mrs. Lloyd Rose, Mrs. C. B. Gates, Mrs. Gib Owen, Mrs. Addison Taylor and Mrs. C. H. Cook.

The meeting was followed by a silver tea with the president, Mrs. Dolph Chatman, pouring.

The room prize went to the room taught by Mrs. Boeschen downstairs and Miss Ruth Burford upstairs.

Indifference Is Strange Part Of Costly Struggle in Indochina

Editor's Note—The world's No.1 war, as of now, is in Indochina, an area a little larger than Texas. It is in its eighth year with no decision in sight despite the outpouring of thousands of lives and millions of dollars worth of U.S. arms. It revolves around the issue of communism, but it is more than that.

What is the background of this perplexing war, due to be discussed at the Geneva conference in April? The AP staff in the area tells the story in three articles to appear this week. This is the first.

By OLEN CLEMENTS and MAX CLOS

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Every night church bells beckon the faithful in misty old Hanoi. Heavy guns rumble on the city's outskirts. The devout go to worship. The others — French, German, Arab, Moroccan and Vietnamese soldiers and civilians—flock to the cafes, the tea houses, the taxi dancehalls.

The Indochina war is in its eighth year and the people in Hanoi are used to it. This city is a center of the French Union forces, including French colonial soldiers, the heavily German Foreign Legion and Vietnamese troops that can call this land their own. They are at war with forces which are led by a Communist but backed by many non-Communists. These forces are known as the Vietminh. Some civilians say there are so many Vietminh sympathizers in Hanio that Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh would never attack the city —he would endanger too many of his friends.

Just now a sort of red haze blows down through the river delta and from Communist China, 90 miles to the north. Millions of mosquitoes buzz in and out of the separate night clubs of the Arabs, the German Leggionaires, the French and the Vietnamese.

French Union troops patrol the countryside and fight along the wet roads.

A thousand miles to the south is hot Saigon, where shops display Paris gowns and good food abounds. It, too, is under control of the French Union forces. All through that southern area watchtowers manned by four to six men keep an eye on roads that may be mined.

The civil population is more or less indifferent. Vietnamese and Chinese carpenters work all day building hundreds of new homes and apartments for people who apparently never give a thought to the war or to the prospect that artillery or planes might knock down some of these new buildings some day.

The difference to the war has created a grotesque riddle for all of Southeast Asia—Indochina, Malaya, Burma, Thailand and Indonesia. The indifference and weariness of the war extend to many places in Viet Nam, and the associated kingdoms of Laos and Cambodia.

Many now believe a military victory by either side is an impossibility unless far more troops and supplies are poured into the fight. They hope the Big Five conference in Geneva in April and the confer- Southern Asia in Ceylon in May will help to solve the riddle.

Gen. Henri Navarre, commander in chief of French Union forces, says:

"We have here a politico-military war. It is only when the Vietnamese government will have won the approval of the population that a victory will be possible."

Since 1949 chief of state Bao Dai has been trying to set up a national front without success. Probably almost half of the 12 million Vietnamese living in the zone controlled by Bao Dai's government are directly aiding the Vietminh or indirectly supporting them out of sympathy for Ho Chi Minh. But only a fraction of the population is really Communist. Most are just anti-French. Many are anti-Communist.

The nationalists, who for five years have been refusing to support Bao Dai effectively, give two reasons:

1. Bao Dai has not obtained independence for Viet Nam. The ex-Emperor signed a 1949 treaty with France which gave his country semi-independence within the framework of the French Union, but France retained actual political control.

2. The nationalists are critical of the system of personal power established by Bao Dai and of the corruption of his regime. The 40-year-old ex-Emperor holds all the executive and legislative powers.

The new government formed in January by Prince Buu Loc persuaded Bao Dai to announce a program seeking to give satisfaction to the nationalists' aspirations. Buu Loc has promised general elections for a national assembly "within as short a time as possible." He also has demanded total independence from France to be guaranteed by the United Nations and has denounced the 1949 treaty. The new Premier and members of his Cabinet are to go to France at the end of this month to negotiate a "treaty of association to establish a union between two partners equal in rights and duties."

Two factors menace the program. To gain Vietnamese approval, Bao Dai must take a firm attitude toward France.

But until Viet Nam's fledgling army is a great deal bigger and better trained, French forces are still the only protection against the Vietminh, and Bao Dai cannot remain in power without them.

He must take care to avoid risking a bad reaction from the French public, which seemingly has begun to doubt that there is any point in pushing the war against the Vietminh. It thinks France is going to be pushed out even in case of victory by the nationalists.

If Buu Loc is too adamant in the Paris conference, the French may demand an immediate end of the war. Foreseeing such aposibility, Buu Loc has given assurance that Viet Nam will not nationalize any French properties and will give France important economic privileges.

Vietnamese leaders believe that within two or three years it will be possible to create a united nationalist front capable of effectively opposing the Vietminh. They question whether any peace or armistice ought to be accepted earlier.

Meantime, there is an Alice in Wonderland aspect to the situation. The forces on both sides cannot go anywhere militarily because it takes all their strength to stay where they are.

Your family will like the flavor of green cabbage salad if you add drained crushed pineapple to it. Use the syrup left from the canned pineapple for basting ham or thin mayonnaise with it and use on fruit salads.

Pope Sleeps Fairly Well During Night

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Ailing Pope Pius "slept fairly well" during the night and his general condition early today showed a slight improvement, the Vatican press office announced.

Other Vatican sources earlier had described the Pope's general condition as still stationary. Severe attacks of hiccuping had kept him from sleeping and severely weakened him during the first week sof his month-long illness.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON REZONING APPLICATION

WHEREAS the Zoning Board of Adjustment and the City Council of Sedalia, Missouri, have received applications from: Robert C. and Erma Lee Evans; George V. and Roena L. Espelin; E. C. and Emma Schlichting, George T. and Flora Lively; Safeway Stores, Inc., Sedalia, Missouri, owners of the following described real estate:

All of Block 42 of Smith and Mar-Martin's Second Addition to an addition to the City of Sedalia, Missouri. Said Block being bounded within Broadway on the North; Ninth Street on the South; Lamine Avenue on the West; and Massachusetts Avenue on the East, requesting that said real estate be changed and rezoned from:

Zone "A" to Zone "G". (One Family Dwelling to Commercial)

and that said application be acted upon as provided in Ordinance No. 3034; therefore, in compliance with Sections No. 7415 and 7416 R. S. Missouri, 1939, other applicable statutes, and said Zoning Ordinance No. 3034, said Zoning Board of Adjustment will meet in the Council Chamber, City Hall Building, Sedalia, Missouri, at 7:30 o'clock P. M. on Thursday, the 11th day of March, 1954, for the purpose of a public hearing in relation to said application to change the zone and rezone said real estate, at which time and place parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard.

Dated at Sedalia, Missouri, this 20th day of February, A. D. 1954.

Dane Doctors Make Charles As Charlotte

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Danish doctors have again lent nature a helping hand, and a young American who came here last winter as Charlie McLeod is now almost ready to return to Louisiana as Charlotte McLeod.

After a series of hormone injections and operations at Copenhagen hospitals through the last year Miss McLeod has reached her goal after overcoming troubles that she called "just one year of hell."

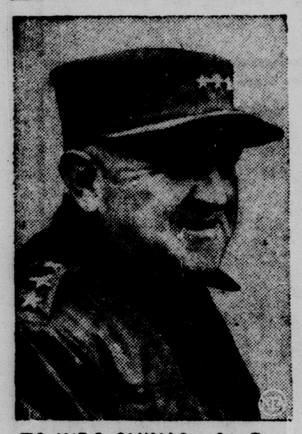

The reason of all this trouble, 28-year-old Charlotte said, was "the bad publicity of a recent similar case."

Leaning heavily on a walking stick because her feet still are somewhat numb after the last operation, Charlotte said she wanted to go back to the United States but she lacked the money.

Charlotte said her home is in New Orleans. She told this correspondent she had planned for a long time to come to Copenhagen, making that decision long before the Christine Jorgensen case developed.

But when she came here she discovered that Danish doctors were tied by a 1953 law that permitted them to make "the initial operation" only on Scandinavians.

Ex-Convict Becomes Far North Gardener

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Herbert Spring, 67-year-old parolee who started life anew after serving 47 years in an Illinois penitentiary, is going to become the farmost north professional gardener on the American continent.

Ross Kimball, Fairbanks businessman who arranged for Spring's parole from the State Penitentiary in Joliet, said today that Spring is leaving this week for Arctic Circle Hot Springs to be gardener for the resort there.

The resort, which is located about 80 miles fom the actual Arctic Circle, is famed for its gardens where cabbages up to three feet in diameter are grown in summer under the almost perpetual sunlight from the arctic midnight sun.

Warm mineral water from the hot springs is used to water the gardens.
